JAP DEFENSE CRUMBLING IN ATTU ASSAULT

ENEMY FORCE HELD IN TWO SMALL POCKETS

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, May 26, (AP)—Japanese resistance on Attu island appeared today to be crumbling fast with one of the enemy's last three main positions in American hands and a second under violent assault.

Army air striking power in the western Aleutian islands was supporting the assault by ground forces. A navy communique said that Liberator heavy bombers, Mitchell medium bombers and Lightning fighters all joined the attacks on Monday.

Such heavy use of planes was the maneuver which authorities here had been hoping for. It undoubtedly resulted from a break in the weather. Tacticians had predicted that when planes could be brought into play in such force, the enemy would be done for in a hurry.

Ready For Cleanup

Chicagof valley was the first of the enemy positions to fall since the Japanese forces were split last week into three groups. It was cleared of the enemy last Monday.

Immediately, combined units of the original American northern and southern landing groups turned to an attack along the ridge north of the valley and this, the navy communique said, "was reported as continuing."

The ridge stands as a bulwark between Chicagof valley and Chicagof harbor, one of the two remaining main enemy positions on the northeastern tip of the island where all Japanese troops have been pocketed. The other Japanese position is the area immediately north of Lake Nicholas, which is between two and three miles southeast of the Chickagof vicinity.

Capture of the ridge between the valley and the harbor would place United States forces in a position for a quick clean up of the harbor area.

Naval Guns Silent

Monday's air attack was officially described as having started fires in the Chicagof area but authorities agreed that the damage to enemy installations undoubtedly went far beyond a few fires.

There was no mention of use of naval guns to blast the Japanese position. It is possible that fighting now has been concentrated in such a small area that naval gun fire may no longer be profitable.

Today's communique also reported continued American aerial forays in the South Pacific where on Monday Avenger torpedo bombers and Wildcat fighters attacked Japanese installations at Ringi Cove on Kolom-Bangara island in the central Solomons. Results were not reported.

Japanese planes attacked the 1,333-ton naval auxiliary vessel Niagara on Sunday east of Cape Surville, San Cristobal island. The ship was so badly damaged that it subsequently was sunk by United States forces after members of the crew were taken aboard other ships. Reports reaching the navy department indicated there were no casualties to personnel.

SOLDIER-STUDENTS ROBBED

East Lansing, May 26. (AP)—Campus police are seeking robbers who took $140 in cash from more than 50 soldier-students stationed at the Delta Chi fraternity house early today. Chief Richard Rogers said the thieves apparently stole through the sleeping quarters and rifled the wallets of the men, who are senior R. O. T. C. students now in army service.

TENSION EASED IN FLOOD AREA

High Waters Close Down Big Explosives Plant At Wolf Lake, Ill.

(By The Associated Press)

Surging waters closed a big explosives plant yesterday (Wednesday) but elsewhere along the midwestern flood front tension eased as rivers dropped slowly but steadily at many points.

The overflow from the Mississippi, rising more than a foot in two hours, swept past sandbag barricades and gushed into the Atlas Powder company's buildings at Wolf Lake, Ill. Production was halted.

Farther north, while crests slipped downstream and the remaining seawalls stood up to the test of tremendous pressure, federal officials and representatives of six states met in St. Louis to consider plans for getting inundated agricultural land back in the food-for-victory program.

During May muddy waters have submerged 3,926,000 acres of Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Indiana, routed 160,000 persons and caused 21 deaths in the worst floods in the midlands since 1937, when the Ohio and Mississippi valley disaster made more than 1,000,000 homeless and took 466 lives.

But conditions took a turn for the better as the Mississippi fell at St. Louis and farther south and the Illinois crested at Beardstown without invading the city.

Navy Planes Sink Enemy Submarine In South Atlantic

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Two navy patrol planes sank an enemy submarine in the South Atlantic several weeks ago, the navy reported today, and as the craft finally disappeared beneath the surface with his guns firing it left 30 or 40 survivors afloat.

To date no report has been received here of the landing of any of the survivors, the navy, said, although life rafts were dropped to them by the planes.

The initial assault on the surfaced enemy submarine was made by a PBY bomber piloted by Ensign Thurmond Edgar Robertson of Spartanburg, S. C. He dived his heavy plane on the submarine and crippled it so badly that a second plane piloted by Lt. Gerard Bradford, Jr., Mobile, Ala., was able to finish the job.

Railway Union Man New Commissioner

Lansing, May 26 (AP)— Charles M. Woodbury, of Bay City, was appointed by Governor Kelly today to the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Woodbury, a member of the legislative board of the Michigan Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (Ind) for 27 years and a member of the department in the administration of Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, succeeds John W. Gibson, who resigned. Gibson was a representative of the CIO and Woodbury's appointment leaves the department with no CIO member.

LANDING CRAFT AUTHORIZED

Washington, May 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed today legislation authorizing the navy to construct 1,000,000 tons of landing craft, district craft and special boats at an estimated cost of $1,700,000,000.

Tokyo Has Staff Picked For Invasion Of U. S. A. Korean Leader Declares

Washington, May 26. (AP)—A Korean leader, who said he predicted the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor two months before it occurred, told the house immigration committee today that the Japanese plan to offer China a separate peace not later than September and that officers already have been chosen by Premier Tojo to head an invasion army against the United States.

The informant, Kilsoo K. Haan, Washington representative of the Korean national front federation and Sino-Korean peoples' league, submitted to the committee on October 29, 1941 documents and maps his co-workers had gathered in the Orient. Committee attaches said these showed detailed plans of the Japanese for attacks in the Pacific.

Today committee members apologized for not heeding the warning Haan had given them.

Terms of the expected peace proposals, which Haan said had already been submitted to the Japanese supreme war council last November are, according to the Korean representative:

1. That China is to withdraw from the United Nations and remain neutral.

2. That Japan is to restore to China all of the occupied territories, status quo as of 1937; however, Japan is to reserve the right to control and use for the duration all the railroads and harbors now under her domination.

3. Japan and China to name an equal number of delegates to an international commission, to reorganize Manchukuo for joint Sino-Japanese ownership after the war.

4. Japan to grant China one billion yen "lend-lease" credit.

Haan also told the committee that Premier Tojo gave a party at his Tokyo residence last month in honor of the aged Mitsuru Toyama, head of the Black Dragon society, and disclosed that Rear Admiral Katsutaro Miyazaki has been chosen to lead a naval force against the United States between June and October 1943 and that General Shun-Roku Hata is to head the invasion army.

Tojo is also said to have declar-

CURBS PLACED ON ROOSEVELT

Solons Seek To Tighten Their Control Over Federal Spending

Washington, May 26. (AP)—In a new move to tighten congressional control over federal spending, the senate appropriations committee voted today to prohibit President Roosevelt from dipping into emergency war funds to finance controversial agencies.

The committee first set aside a house prohibition against using any of the $200,000,000 White House money chest to finance the national resources planning board or the farm security administration. Then it wrote into a $143,639,591 urgent deficiency appropriation bill a general ban against the fund's use for:

"The functions of any agency of the government for which appropriations have been duly made by congress, or for functions for which estimates have been submitted by the budget, and for which congress has failed to make appropriations."

Exempted are the war and navy departments which committee members said might need emergency financing from time to time. The amendment also would not restrict use of the president's fund for emergencies connected with the war where no appeal has been made to congress for money.

Mr. Roosevelt could not, however, supplement appropriations for agencies for functions which have been reviewed by congress.

Help In Recruiting Farm Labor Asked Of Defense Groups

Lansing, May 26. (AP) — The state office of civilian defense today called on county and local units to assist in recruiting labor for the farms, and suggested that youth farm labor committees have done so well the job could be turned over to them.

The new committees will be known as OCD agricultural committees, said Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state director, and it would be a simple matter to just change the names of the farm youth committees, C. B. Dibble, assistant emergency farm labor supervisor, said 10,000 boys and girls have been trained so they can take full and part time jobs on farms when schools close in June for the summer recess. They will receive prevailing wage rates.

MADANG RAIDED IN NEW GUINEA

Nipponese Feeder Base Plastered With 2000 Pound Bombs

Allied Headquarters in Australia, Thursday, May 27 (AP)—Two thousand pound bombs were dropped on Madang, New Guinea, yesterday by raiding Liberators, the high command announced.

Madang, 350 miles northwest of the allied-held Port Moresby, is an enemy feeder base for menaced positions at Salamaua to its southeast.

"Our heavy bombers attacked the airdrome and adjacent enemy installations with fragmentation and explosive bombs ranging up to 2,000 pounds," the noon communique said.

"Simultaneously, our long range fighters strafed enemy positions."

Twelve miles below Salamaua, where Japanese and allied troops face each other, attack planes also bombed and strafed the enemy.

Stormy weather for the second straight day greatly curtailed aerial activity.

At Landgoer, on the Kai Islands above Australia, explosions and fires were started on the enemy airdrome by two-engined raiders.

At Arawe, New Britain, a big four-engined bomber on reconnaissance strafed the coastal area.

After the Liberators scattered their bombs, the Beaufighters came in to pour a hail of death into shelters where the enemy had taken cover from the bombers.

BOARD GRANTS RAIL WORKERS PAY INCREASE

UNION DISAPPOINTED OVER RAISE OF EIGHT CENTS

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, May 26. (AP)—An eight-cents an hour increase in wages for the 1,000,000 "non-operating" railroad employes, which would add about $204,000,000 to annual payrolls, was recommended to President Roosevelt today by an emergency board of the national railway labor panel.

The board also proposed that the increase be retroactive to Feb. 1. Back pay of $8,500,000, computed from that date to July 1, when the payroll changes would probably be completed, would be granted in war bonds to prevent "strongly inflationary" influences.

Union Shop Refused

The recommendations, to become effective within 30 days unless vetoed or modified by Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes, represented a partial compliance with requests by the 15 non-operating unions which had sought a 20 cents an hour raise and the union shop.

Bert Jewell, chairman of a committee representing the unions, said:

"We are disappointed."

In turning down the union shop, the board said such a provision would compel the carriers to "violate clear provisions of the railway labor act, to proceed in disregard of their not unreasonable interpretation of the unexpired moratorium agreement against changes in rules, and to acquiesce

TAX PROPOSAL BACKED BY GOP

Party Throws Support To Pay-As-You-Go Compromise

Washington, May 26 (AP)—Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, today threw his party's House strength behind the compromise, 75-to-100 per cent abatement, pay-as-you-go tax bill, and predicted its passage by Congress.

His prediction was echoed by Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate finance committee and author of the compromise, who told newspapermen the legislation would pass "with no difficulty at all." George added that he could "see no good reason why the President would not sign it."

However, there were some signs of opposition in the House by Democrats and Republicans who have battled against any tax abatement in wartime.

The House will vote on the compromise Tuesday, and the Senate probably will dispose of it finally on Wednesday.

Designed to put 44,000,000 income taxpayers on a pay-as-you-go basis, the compromise bill cancels a whole year's tax bill for person's owing $50 tax or less on either 1942 or 1943 income, and abates 75 per cent of the tax or 1943 liability, whichever is smaller, for all others. Half of the remaining 25 per cent will be paid in 1944 and half in 1945.

The measure imposes, effective July 1, a 20 per cent withholding levy against wages and salaries, after family status exemptions.

Girl War Workers Prevent Wreck By Building Bonfire

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 26 (AP)—Three girls, war workers returning from a late factory shift, prevented a train smash-up at Galesburg early this morning when they built a fire on the tracks to flag down an oncoming Michigan Central passenger.

They reached the Shafter crossing at Galesburg just after a trailer and truck loaded with machinery, had overturned. Garth Derby, the driver, asked them to go back to Kalamazoo to notify Michigan Central railroad officials. They started back, but stopped when they noted the oncoming train.

Using waste paper from their lunch boxes they made a bonfire and frantically waved their coats to gain the engineer's attention. The train stopped two miles west of the crossing.

The girls who stopped the train are Bertha Pervine and Clara Born, of Augusta, and Dorothy Green of Galesburg

Death Of Edsel Ford Leaves Giant Motor Firm Without Head

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, May 26, (AP)—Edsel Bryant Ford died today, leaving the gigantic Ford Motor company to carry on temporarily without its president, treasurer and nominal general manager.

Death came to the 49-year-old son of Henry Ford at his home in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores at 1:30 a. m., and was attributed in a family announcement to a recurrence of a stomach malady aggravated by undulant fever.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Christ church chapel, Grosse Pointe. Burial will be private. The Rt. Rev. Frank W. Creighton, Episcopal bishop of Michigan, and the Rev. Francis B. Creamer, rector of Christ church parish, will officiate. The family has not so indicated but interment may be in a family plot on a Ford-owned farm not far from Henry Ford's birthplace. There are buried the elder Ford's parents, several brothers and other members of the family.

Rests In Florida

A family announcement late today said the body would be at the Hamilton funeral parlors at Cass and Alexandrine avenues, until Friday morning.

The younger Ford's ailment dated back more than a year and a half. He underwent an operation for stomach ulcers in January, 1942. It was a recurrence of this malady that took the widely popular president of the Ford company to Florida for a rest and recuperation 10 weeks ago.

He failed to regain his strength and discovered then that he had contracted undulant fever. He returned home where his condition became critical last Saturday.

Hundreds of messages of sympathy poured in by telegraph and telephone at the Ford offices in Dearborn and the Edsel Ford home in Grosse Pointe Shores. They came from peace-time business rivals and friends and acquaintances throughout the world.

With the death of Henry Ford's only son came speculation and conjecture concerning the future of the company, its executive personnel and the distribution of the Edsel Ford holdings in the great enterprise that grew from a $28,000 investment in 1903 to fabulous proportions in a few decades.

Fortunes Are Secrets

The Ford Motor company itself had an asset value of more than $718,000,000 as of the close of 1941, according to a financial statement filed in Massachusetts. What were the personal fortunes of Henry and Edsel Ford were closely guarded family secrets. So, too, were whatever arrangements that may have been made for the ultimate disposition of the company assets and those personal accumulations of wealth.

At the time the Ford family became sole owners of the com-

NAZIS THROWN BACK AT KUBAN

Thrusts In Rostov And Donets Sectors Also Shattered

London, Thursday, May 27. (AP)—Violent fighting was renewed Wednesday in the Caucasus where a force of 1,600 Germans was thrown back with heavy losses in an attack in the lower Kuban River, the Russians reported early today.

Two other German thrusts in the Rostov and Donets sectors also were shattered in sporadic outbursts of battle, and 200 Germans were killed in fighting on the western front, said the midnight communique recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

The Germans threw two battalions of troops against Russian positions on the lower reaches of the Kuban northwest of Novorossisk, but "as a result of violent fighting our troops beat off the enemy and inflicted heavy losses on him," the war bulletin reported.

On the Donets sector near Lisichansk, 125 miles southeast of Kharkov, the Germans "under cover of a smoke screen tried to cross to the left bank of the northern Donets river."

"They were met with a volley of fire and hurriedly retreated. Many Hitlerites were drowned in the river."

Volleys of Red army machine-gun and artillery fire repulsed German attempts at fighting reconnaissance west of Rostov-on-Don, the communique continued, and Soviet artillery blasted away two German blockhouses, five dugouts, two observation points and five trucks. A battalion of German troops was dispersed

RUBBER STRIKE COMES TO END

Officials Of CIO Unions Order Workers Back On Jobs Today

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Akron, O., May 26 (AP) — Responding to President Roosevelt's demand that 51,500 idle rubber workers "return to work at once", officials of CIO United Ruber Workers Union locals ordered an end to the five-day war production stoppage tonight and expressed confidence their members would comply tomorrow morning.

Earlier, unionsts at the General Tire and Rubber Co., one of four major Akron concerns involved in the tieup, resumed production on the 10 P. M. (Eastern War Time) shift, a few minutes before the President's order was made public.

Roosevelt, speaking as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, termed the strikes "inexcusable" and a "flagrant violation of the no-strike pledge" and declared "if this strike is not ended by 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 27, 1943, your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation.

Meeting in joint session, the executive boards of the union locals at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co., and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. adopted a resolution urging the unionists "to return to work at once."

Union officials said they were confident employes would resume production on the 6 A. M. (Eastern War Time) shifts tomorrow.

Liberian President Visits White House

Washington, May 26. (AP)—With the full honors accorded all visiting foreign dignitaries, Edwin Barclay, president of the negro Republican of Liberia in West Africa, was received officially today at the White House.

He became the first member of his race to spend the night as a guest in the executive mansion.

Barclay, who is repaying a visit which President Roosevelt made him on his way back from a conference with Prime Minister Churchill at Casablanca last January. A stag, state dinner for the visiting chief executive was held tonight at the White House with high officials of the government present.

Marketing Council Named In Michigan To Spend $40,000

Lansing, May 26. (AP)—Governor Kelly today appointed a committee to administer the $40,000 appropriated by the legislature for advertising Michigan agricultural products.

The appointees, nominated by farm association which participated in the 1941 appropriation, are Fred P. Hibst, Cadillac; J. Gordon Jackson, Saginaw; J. H. O'Mealey, Hudson; B. A. Rainey and H. D. Hottman, East Lansing, and John Haas, Detroit.

They will form the Michigan agricultural marketing council.

GUMP GETS JOB

Lansing, May 26. (AP)—Eugene A. Gump, state purchasing director, informed his office today he has been elected vice-chairman of the governmental, educational and institutional buyers group of the national association of purchasing agents, meeting in New York.

BOMBS RAINED ON GERMANY'S ARMS CENTER

FLYING FORTRESSES LEAD ASSAULTS ON ITALY

BY RICE YAHNER

London, May 26 (AP)—The RAF bashed the German arms center of Duesseldorf with nearly 2,000 tons of explosives last night while an American-led armada gave another "get-out-of-the-war" warning to Italy in a paralyzing attack eliciting cries of pain and anger from the weaker axis partner.

A total of nearly 900 planes based in Britain and Africa struck the axis in a violent general aerial offensive which authoritative sources said was just a foretaste of greater blows aimed at tearing out by the roots the enemy's war-making capacities.

Perhaps 500 British bombers, most of them four-engined giants packing two-ton blockbusters, left a carpet of flames to eat through cratered Duesseldorf in a saturation raid almost equalling Sunday night's record of destruction heaped on Dortmund, 50 miles away.

Score 10 to 1

The rolling sky barrage continued today as a strong force of allied planes sped across the English Channel toward the invasion coast.

In the Mediterranean nearly 400 allied aircraft, spearheaded by U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators, rocked Italy's invasion outposts of Sicily, Sardinia, and Pantelleria in which was officially described as "a terrific hammering." Messina, Sicilian ferry terminus only a few miles from the Italian mainland, was a particular target.

This onslaught on the softer underside of Europe extended as far eastward as the Aegean Sea between Greece and Turkey as the newly-conquered African shores allowed allied airmen to stretch their wings across the entire Mediterranean.

Twenty-three axis planes were shot down over Sicily yesterday out of a total bag of 26 enemy aircraft. This sent the allied African command's record spiralling to 355 planes destroyed in a week at a cost of 33 planes—better than a 10-to-1 score.

More than five two-ton blockbuster bombs per minute hurled down on Duesseldorf, the British air ministry said, in the biggest attack yet carried out under unfavorable weather conditions.

Thousands of incendiaries also plummeted upon the Ruhr city, the resulting fires causing a red glare on the cloud layers through which the British attacked "in very great strength"—the same official phrase used to describe the destruction showered on Dortmund.

"One huge explosion came up in a red mass and penetrated right through the clouds," said return-

KING DECORATES U.S.A. GENERALS

Honorary Rank of Knight Given To MacArthur And Eisenhower

London, Thursday, May 27. (AP)—Knig George VI bestowed today upon Generals Dwight D. Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur the honorary rank of knights, grand cross, of the Order of the Bath, military division.

Gen. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief in North Africa, and Gen. MacArthur, commander in chief of the Southwest Pacific, were honored "in recognition of most valuable services in command of troops of the allied nations."

In the case of British citizens these appointments would permit the generals the title "sir" but American citizens holding office are forbidden by the constitution from accepting foreign titles without the consent of congress.

Gen. John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the AEF in World War I, was honored similarly by King George V.

London noted that the appointments were made simultaneously and without distinction between the commanders in major theaters of United States interest.

The appointments implied political as well as royal recognition for the services of the two generals since such appointments are made by the king only upon the advice or consent of his ministers.

MAKE PAYMENT ON "SAN"

Iron Mountain — Payment of $2,000 on an amount of $5,173 owing the Pinecrest sanatorium at Powers for care of patients in excess of an existing four-county arrangement was ordered by the county supervisors yesterday afternoon, after reading the report of the health and sanatorium committee.

Adjustment of patient-care between counties is based on a resolution adopted by the sanatorium board of trustees Jan. 12, 1938, and which considers cost of food, medical supplies, charts, blanks, drugs and laundry supplies. Other costs, such as salaries, fuel, electric power, etc., are considered as overhead and do not figure in the excess patient cost.

"The charge seems fair," the committee said, "and an effort should be made to liquidate the indebtedness as soon as possible."

SENATOR TYDINGS COMING

Menominee — U. S. Senator Millard F. Tydings, of Maryland, has been added to the roster of distinguished visitors who will come to Menominee aboard the S. S. Greater Detroit on Friday, June 11, when the Detroit Board of Commerce visits here on its annual cruise.

Senator Tydings will be the principal speaker on the industrial clinic program which will be held at the Menominee Opera house immediately after the boat docks. He will discuss the federal government's plans for industry's part in the postwar program. Other speakers will include some of the top War Production Board officials from the Washington and Cleveland regional offices.

VALUATION REDUCED

Houghton — The valuation of the properties of the Quincy Mining Co. has been determined at $150,000, which is $25,000 under the valuation recommended by Franklin G. Pardee, state appraiser of mines, according to official word received today by County Clerk Dominic Vairo from Louis M. Nims, chairman of the state tax commission. The state tax commission approved the recommended valuations for all other mining properties in Houghton county.

In advising the county clerk of the commission's determination of the valuation on mining properties in the county, Mr. Nims made it clear that they do not include the value of any dwelling houses, hospitals, club houses or other buildings not used in mining operations, nor do they include the value of any standing timber which may be located upon the mining properties. He stated that the valuation of all properties should be added to the assessment rolls by the local assessing officers.

Wet Weather May Cause Crop Failure In Michigan

Lansing, May 26. (AP)—Unless drying weather prevails the next week or 10 days, Michigan's farm crop year may be a dismal failure, state agricultural specialists asserted today.

Clarence Bolander, deputy state commissioner of agriculture, declared that "We're really in terrible condition. In areas where most of the sugar beets and corn is planted before June 1, there has not been a seed sown. In many cases, farmers haven't even had a chance to get out fertilizer and fit their ground."

Michigan State college crops specialists said that despite flooded lowlands and saturated fields which have made planting operations next to impossible in fertile southern Michigan and Thumb areas there was still hope farmers could catch up on some planting schedules.

They conceded prolonged rainfall has written a discouraging finish to planting of small grains with the possibility Michigan's harvest of oats and barley will be 20,000,000 bushels less than normal.

The specialists emphasized, however, that although sowing schedules of such important field crops as beans, sugar beets and corn are far out of kilter, a dry spell within the coming week still would permit substantial planting of those crops.

A. A. Johnson of the college crops department said the planting delay means that labor requirements will be packed into a limited period and that the farm labor situation may be further complicated when late fall harvests demand attention. With the prospect most crops will be harvested later than usual, he said, an early frost such as occurred last fall would be "just too bad" for Michigan farmers.

Bolander said that in some early plantings of potatoes and onions, seeds have rotted in the ground because of over-abundance of moisture. He said that eastern Michigan acreage planted to truck crops is mainly under water or so thoroughly soaked the soil cannot be worked, particularly in the Bay City area and in Macomb and Wayne counties, with serious implications for the Detroit markets.

Johnson said that a "break in the weather" within the next two weeks would allow farmers to "grow a whale of a crop," but C. J. Borum, state crop statistician, reported no corn had yet been planted in important areas of the Thumb sector and that some farmers there planned to abandon the crop if they could not complete planting by June 1. The state's intended corn acreage is 1,760,000 acres, an increase of seven per cent over last year.

R. W. Bell, sugar beet specialist at Michigan State college, said the planted acreage of sugar beets a week ago was only 10,000 acres, compared with 138,500 acres in 1942, a "good share" of which had been seeded by this date last year.

June 1 Deadline Set on Utilizing Victory Gardens

Escanaba persons who have Victory Garden plots reserved for them in the area at 23rd street and Fifth avenue south yesterday were requested by S. J. Shank, Victory Garden chairman, to notify him before June 1 if they do not intend to use the land.

"We have noticed that some of the plots are not being worked, and we are wondering if some persons intend to garden there this year," Shank said. "If they do not, they should notify me by telephone or in writing before June 1. There is a waiting list of about 15 persons who want garden space in that area."

Shank also announced that about five additional acres of land has been plowed and dragged along Willow Road. This also is to be staked out for Victory Gardeners and is now available to those who wish to apply for garden space.

Rainy weather the past few days has kept many persons from sparetime work on the garden plots assigned them at the 23rd street area. It was pointed out that for best results considerable time should be spent in preparing the seed beds by first removing grass roots from the soil before planting.

ed, Haan stated, that 1943 will be Japan's "year of Victory."

The gist of speculative talk in Japan, Haan reported in a prepared statement, is as follows:

1. That Admiral Miyazaki will command 60 per cent of the imperial navy in the attack on the U. S.

2. That General Hata will have more than 100,000 picked troops from the Kwantung army.

3. That submarine and air strength will play the most important part in the attack.

A Japanese army of occupation composed of 10,000 American citizens of Japanese ancestry is being prepared, Haan said.

Let Boils Run Natural Course And Guard Against Infection

BY DR. THOMAS D. MASTERS
Written for NEA

Boils are localized infections of the skin surrounding the hair roots. They are characterized by redness, an area of increased firmness and pain. Where the skin is taut, the pain is likely to be more intense.

Boils are caused by staphylococci, and their presence does not imply what is commonly called "bad blood." The germs gain access to the skin from the outside. Around the infected area, the defensive mechanisms of the body throw up a protective wall or membrane. This protection should not be sacrificed, as may be done by squeezing the boil and breaking down the protecting wall, permitting the infection to spread into the adjacent tissue.

Boils frequently occur in series, and this fact implies a diminished resistance of the skin to the infection. When this phenomenon occurs, a general examination by a physician may discover some underlying disturbance.

RUNS NORMAL COURSE

The changes in the skin that characterize a boil are called inflammation, and the end result of inflammation as seen here is the breaking down of the tissue in the center with liquefaction or the formation of pus.

As this stage is reached, the center of the boil becomes soft and whitish in appearance. It is described as having "come to a head." Salves do not accelerate this sequence of events, which in most instances set their own pace.

After the liquefaction is complete, the skin breaks down and the pus drains out. This relieves the pressure and the pain promptly subsides. The cavity in the center of the boil must gradually fill in with tissue, the skin heals, and the redness and firmness slowly disappear, leaving no evidence of the recent nuisance. A carbuncle is larger than a boil, contains multiple cavities instead of only one, and is considerably more serious.

PREVENT INFECTION

Because of the drainage of infection from the face, boils occurring there should never be squeezed. In this locality, such treatment is dangerous; elsewhere, it makes matters only moderately worse.

The best treatment for boils is to apply hot, wet boric acid solution (about one teaspoonful to a glass of water) or Epsom salts in the same proportion. The moisture softens the skin and, combined with heat, gets the whole trouble over with somewhat more quickly.

BOARD GRANTS RAIL WORKERS PAY INCREASE

in the adoption of this policy in the railroad industry without an adequate showing in the record as to its need or utility or implications."

Next Hearing June 7

The board's findings were made outside the little steel formula used by the war labor board in adjusting wages of non-railroad workers.

The increases, it said, are the "minimum, non-inflationary adjustments necessary to correct gross inequities and to aid in the effective prosecution of the war." The WLB may make increases for the same reasons, outside the little steel formula.

The five operating brotherhoods which actually run the trains were not affected by the report. These unions have demanded an increase in wages of 30 per cent and another emergency board will start hearings on this in New York June 7.

Chemicals Released For Michigan Drive On Swimmers' Itch

Lansing, May 26 (AP)— Copper chemicals needed in the campaign by the State Stream Control Commission to eliminate "swimmers' itch" from public bathing beaches in Northern Michigan have been released by the War Production Board.

Milton P. Adams, commission secretary, said the WPB had authorized the commission to use six tons of the chemical, sufficient to treat infected public beaches. He said the treatment program would start June 14 and advised private resort owners who desire to treat their beaches to seek the same priority from the WPB.

New Plane Carrier Arrives At Chicago For Training Ship

Chicago, May 26. (AP)—The U. S. S. Sable, the navy's second fresh water training aircraft carrier, arrived off Chicago today to join the U. S. S. Wolverine for qualifying fliers for aircraft duty against the axis.

The Sable, commanded by Capt. W. K. Berner, USN, was converted from the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company's lake steamer, Great Buffalo, at Buffalo, N. Y., and was commissioned a navy ship May 8.

The ship, 550 feet long at the waterline, will double the qualification program carried on here since August, 1942, by the Wolverine, the converted pleasure steamer, Seeandbee.

Enrico Caruso would not go on the stage unless professional "claques" had been hired to applaud his entrance.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT IN COAL TRUCE

Operators And Miners Expected To Work Out Settlement

Washington, May 26. (AP)—President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers has summoned the union's policy committee to meet here Saturday, a step indicating the UMW expects an early agreement in the soft coal wage dispute.

The operators and the miners returned to the bargaining table today in line with a war labor board directive to work out a settlement of the miners' demand for pay on a portal-to-portal basis which would cover their underground travel as well as actual productive time.

Lewis and the UMW district presidents met briefly with the Appalachian operators, north and south. The operators caucused for an hour, apparently trying to work out their own problems of strategy and representation on a negotiating sub-committee. Then a recess was taken until late today at the operators' request.

After the later session, no announcement was made beyond the fact that the conference would be resumed tomorrow morning.

Lewis maintained silence on the WLB order, consistent with his position of refusing to recognize the board's jurisdiction.

The truce under which the industry has been operating expires next Monday. Informed UMW sources said that if an agreement is not reached the truce undoubtedly will be extended as long as bargaining continues.

BOMBS RAINED ON GERMANY'S ARMS CENTER

ing airmen. "There were several other good explosions which sent up bright orange flashes."

Twenty-seven British bombers failed to return from this erasure attack which was regarded as a quick step toward realization of the long term strategy of pounding the axis behind its fortified walls until the enemy's war plants falter in their efforts to supply axis armies which must face fully-equipped allied land invaders.

Two German night fighters were shot down by the RAF force, which included Halifaxes, Stirlings and Lancasters.

It was the 52nd attack on Duesseldorf, Germany's third largest inland port equipped with iron and steel works comparable to the great Krupp plants which once existed at Essen. An RAF attack Dec. 2 was said to have left 190,000 homeless at Duesseldorf.

The German high command communique today announced "losses among the population as well as damage to buildings." It did not name Duesseldorf, referring only to "the west German area."

Germany already has been forced to speed up the transfer of many of her war industries, particularly aircraft factories, to southeastern Europe, a spokesman for the British ministry of economic warfare said today.

New aircraft factories already are turning out German planes in Yugoslavia, and a housing shortage has developed in Vienna, Austrian capital, because of the concentration of industry, he said. Hungary, about mid-way between the long arm of the RAF and Russian planes hitting from the east, also is a new industrial center.

U. S. Army Fortress and Liberator precision daylight attacks were said to be hastening the German industrial migration. Reconnaissance has shown that the Germans have not bothered to try to repair the Bremen Focke-Wulf airplant, raided by the Americans April 17, and the Paris Renault tank and motor works blasted March 4.

But the American crewmen have not yet even hit their stride. Great clouds of U. S. daylight raiders still are to take to the skies over Germany in a swelling experiment which Prime Minister Churchill says is well worth trying in an effort to knock out the axis from the air.

Italy thus far appeared to be the most vulnerable to their aerial assault. The allied American precision bombers had the clear Mediterranean weather on their side as they continued to pick off choice targets over a wide area off the Italian mainland.

Nearly a score of targets were attacked yesterday. Guns, shipping, airfields, supplies and communication lines were bombed and gunned to such an extent that the Italian high command acknowledged serious damage.

Death Of Ford Leaves Concern Without Head

pany through the purchase of minority holdings in 1919 for approximately $75,000,000. Edsel Ford was credited with ownership of 40 per cent of the stock; his father with 58 per cent and his mother, Clara Bryant Ford, with the remainder.

To inherit the Edsel Ford interest are his widow, the former Eleanor Lowthian Clay, to whom he was married in 1916, three sons, Henry, Benson and William, and one daughter, Josephine. The three sons are serving in the armed services, Henry as a lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy; Benson in the Army Air Corps and William as a Naval air cadet.

Sources close to the Ford family speculated today that the company's board of directors—consisting of the elder Henry Ford, Henry II, Benson and Charles E. Sorensen, vice-president and production genius of the company—would meet soon and name either the elder Ford or Sorensen president.

Sorensen Now 61

Ford long has insisted he wanted no title with the company. He will be 80 years old next July 30. He turned the office of president over to Edsel in 1919, soon after the latter had completed a five-year apprenticeship in factory and office and served two years as vice-president.

Sorensen was 61 years old last September. Danish-born, he has been associated with Ford since 1905 and has been credited with developing many projects conceived in Ford's mind. He originated the moving assembly line for mass production of automobiles and later adapted it to bomber plane production at the Ford-operated Willow Run plant.

B. J. Craig, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Ford company, has been carrying on most of the duties of treasurer for several years, although Edsel Ford held that title. The company never has had a general manager, but the duties of that office were assigned to the younger Ford by common consent.

At the deathbed this morning were Mrs. Edsel Ford and three of the four children. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford were not present at the end, but hurried there as soon as possible.

Members of the Ford organization who talked with the elder Ford today said that he was bearing up better than some of his associates.

Among the first expressions of sympathy to come to the family today were messages from such business rivals as Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman, and Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors corporation; K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation, and Alvan Macauley, chairman of the Packard Motor Car Co. All paid tribute to his unsparing contribution to the war production effort and termed his death a serious loss to the automotive industry and to the nation.

CHINESE SMASH YANGTZE DRIVE

Nipponese Suffer Heavy Losses In Battle Of Ichang

Chungking, May 26 (AP)—Chinese troops have recaptured an important strategic point and killed 600 Japanese in a battle on the outer ring of Ichang in central China, a high command communique reported tonight.

Ichang is the center of menacing Japanese thrusts along the Yangtze river in southwestern Hupeh province in the direction of Chungking. Earlier the Chinese Central News agency had reported the blunting of three enemy drives fanning out of the Ichang area.

Chinese forces also suffered "considerable casualties" in the latest battle, which was west of Lungehuanpu, northeast of Ichang, but they seized big stores of military booty, the communique declared.

Across the Yangtze from Icang to the south, enemy troops were reported advancing northeastward after taking Changyang, 12 miles southeast of Ichang.

Chinese shore batteries drove back still other enemy forces attempting to cross to the north bank of the Ching river south of Crangyang, the war bulletin said, while Japanese units from Yuyangkwan, southwest of Ichang, were reported repulsed in a brisk attack on two villages. The invaders suffered heavy losses, headquarters said.

Contractors Serve Prison Sentences For Detroit Bribes

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Two Chicago contractors were sentenced today to serve 2 to 5 years in state prison after they pleaded guilty in recorder's court to charges that they conspired to bribe former Detroit councilmen in connection with the Herman Gardens housing project.

Judge W. McKay Skillman recommended that the two men, Seymour Smith, 27, and William S. Lipman, 36, serve the minimum term less good time allowances. Lipman broke into tears on being sentenced.

Three former councilmen who have been given prison sentences for receiving bribes in connection with the housing contract are John F. Hamilton, Harry I. Dingeman, and Robert G. Ewald.

Hold Employment Meeting Friday At Manistique

Manistique—According to information received from Whitney R. Dixon, manager of the Escanaba office of the United States employment service of the war manpower commission an informative meeting concerning employment stabilization will be held in the courthouse at Manistique on Friday, May 28 at 7:30 p. m. At this time the stabilization plan which is now in effect in this area and throughout Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky will be discussed, questions concerning the working of the plan will be answered and sample forms will be distributed.

All employers in the area and any employees interested are requested to attend as the information to be given out is of vital interest to all. "Every employer, whether in an essential industry or not should plan on attending, as the provisions of the plan affect both essential and non-essential employers," Mr. Dixon said. "It is to the best interests of both employers and employes to be fully familiar with the regulations of employment stabilization plan, as penalties for violations are severe."

"Militant Sodalist" Is Theme Of Opening Talk

"A Militant Sodalist in Militant Times" was the subject of the opening address of the third annual convention of the Marquette Diocesan Sodality Union and Youth Spiritual Organization, delivered by Rev. Fr. O'H. Walker, S. J., convention leader, immediately following the ten o'clock Pontifical High Mass at St. Joseph's church.

"You are all familiar with the terminology of the soldier," Father Walker said in opening his address, comparing the Sodality organization to an army of youth.

"You were baptised and confirmed as a soldier but if you are going to be a good soldier of Our Lady you have to be active. If you are a Sodalist you are marching with others. You are in an association, a fellowship and you are in a certain unity—you are not alone. If you have no goal, if you are not marching any place, you are not a soldier.

"The Bishop is your leader, He is your Captain. You receive all your orders from him. Then you have a certain responsibility as a member of that organization. You must feel that you must make the organization worthwhile.

"We are taking Our Lady's place today, serving the ideals which she exemplifies. We are not in the dark—we are among ths chosen people for we have a knowledge of the one true God. Throughout the ages, from the time of the Holy Kings of Israel and the exile of the Jewish people, they talked about the coming of the great King and the story spread throughout the kingdom of the world. Little Mary did not dream that she would one day be so close to God. When she knew she began doing little things which she knew would please Him.

Courage In Suffering

"We, too," Father Walker continued, "have consecrated ourselves to be soldiers in her place. We must be courageous in the face of the slight sufferings we must bear, so small in view of those in the Catholic Rhineland, Catholic Spain, Catholic Holland, and others. We are members of Our Lady's regiment—soldiers as Our Lady was a soldier.

"Loyalty is the soldier's work," he said in conclusion. "It is necessary if we would fight for our land, and for our liberty. These things we have are precious things and we must guard them and fight for them as good soldiers."

Old Three Toes, Killer Bear, On Rampage Again

Old Three Toes, killer bear of the St. Nicholas area in Baldwin township, has struck again among herds of livestock there, slaughtering a yearling bull on the farm of Victor DeGrand, threatening cattle on other farms.

Old Three Toes came back this spring for the third successive year to make things tough for livestock growers near St. Nicholas. The death of the yearling brought the bear's total kill on two farms in the last three years to a total of seven head of cattle—and there may be more before Conservation Officers Herb Lennon of St. Jacques and Allen Tweedy of Gladstone catch up with him.

Grown wily and still more dangerous after two of his toes were pinched off in a trap three years ago, Old Three Toes today is estimated to weigh more than 300 pounds, to be at least five years old.

Trail Like Bulldozer

"It's Old Three Toes alright," Tweedy said yesterday. "When Herb and I went up to look the place over and set some traps some of his big tracks were still there—and toes were missing on one foot."

Officer Lennon is the trapper, Tweedy said. He has had plenty of experience—but Old Three Toes has been able to outwit him ever since that day the big bear got his toes pinched.

The bear went down through the woods with the trap on his foot and the drag bumping along behind. He bit and clawed at catching trees and bushes and logs, "left a trail like a bulldozer," as one St. Nicholas farmer expressed it. But the bear got away. Today he is Old Three Toes, killer and renegade, the hunter and the hunted.

For St. Nicholas farmers have declared war on the bear. With permission of the conservation department the farmers carry rifles with them, on the lookout for the bear that last year slaughtered at least five head of cattle, at least one the year before.

Had Lippens Stumped

But they haven't seen Old Three Toes, who is growing smart with age. He seldom comes out in the open in daylight, hangs back in the woods and swamps until evening and then rushes out onto the cattle grazing in distant fields.

So far as Officer Tweedy knows, Old Three Toes hasn't been seen since three years ago. And there's a story in that.

Phil Lippens heard a yearling bull bellowing wildly and with his small dog ran back across the fields. He saw a bear killing his bull, a bull that weighed over 400 pounds. Lippens rushed toward the bear—and then the bear rushed at Lippens. Climbing onto a stump Lippens watched his dog come to his rescue, and when the bear was distracted by the dog nipping at its feet, Lippens jumped down and ran.

Yesterday Lippens told Officer Tweedy the bear was back again near his place. He had seen the tracks. It was Old Three Toes. That was the name Lippens gave the bear last year when it killed one of his cattle.

Use Fish For Bait

After losing two of his toes in that trap three years ago, the bear won't even come back to finish off the carcass of a calf that he has killed. He knows there is danger there.

Last year two men from Perkins thought they could entice Old Three Toes out to be killed. They tied a calf in the woods, hid themselves in a nearby tree with rifles and waited. They waited all night but the bear stayed clear of the trap, just as he stays clear of other traps that have been set for him this spring.

Officer Lennon is baiting his traps with fish, since the bear shies away from fesh beef of his own killing after it gets cold. Although bears are inordinately fond of fish, Old Three Toes has so far turned up his nose at the bait.

"We're still trying to get him —and get him before he gets any more cattle," Tweedy said yesterday.

What set Old Three Toes on his cattle killing rampage? Well, conservation officers believe the farmers are to blame for the bear's hankering for beef. They say that it probably started when a farmer dragged a dead cow or calf out into the woods to dispose of it instead of burying it. The bear got his first taste of beef that way, and has been coming back for more.

CONVICT IN COURT

Marquette—The case of Ned Adair, Marquette prison inmate who faces charges of entering with intent to commit larceny, and also with breaking prison as a result of walking away from Schneider's mill while loading lumber there for the prison, highlights the criminal calendar to be heard by Judge Frank A. Bell during the June term of circuit court which opens here next Tuesday, June 1. There are 12 criminal cases.

Adair, a prison trusty scheduled to appear before the parole board in July, had only 16 hours' freedom after disappearing from Schneider's mill Wednesday morning, March 17. He was captured by state police, who had been notified by a night watchman at the L. S. & I. bridge over Dear river that the convict was seen walking near there early the following morning.

PAPER COMPANY BUYS DOCK SITE

I. Stephenson Co. Island In River Used For Unloading Pulp

The Escanaba Paper company has purchased a 60 acres island at the mouth of the Escanaba river from the I. Stephenson company to replace the dock area owned by the paper company and sold to the government for the Escanaba ore docks project, it has been learned.

The island at the mouth of the Escanaba river was the site of the I. Stephenson company pine mill which operated for nearly 50 years. The mill was discontinued in 1923 and three years later it was destroyed by fire when a scrap salvage company was working there to dismantle machinery. A spark from an acetylene torch started the fire.

The paper company will use the property for the unloading of pulp boats. The harbor is 18 to 19 feet deep.

From where I sit. . . .

by Joe Marsh

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much! . . . wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information made and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see we're on the right track now.

Still A Mystery

DR. JOHN VAN OOSTEN, well known biologist of the Fish and Wildlife Service, who is considered the leading authority on the smelt, confesses in a letter to the Press that he is at a loss to explain the sudden disappearance of the silvery fish this year.

Record-breaking catches of smelt were recorded in 1941 and 1942, and it was quite natural to expect that production would be of corresponding volume this year. But after a couple weeks of good catches by commercial fishermen through the ice, the smelt made a rather sudden exit. So complete and suddent a collapse of the smelt fishing industry is unexplainable, according to Dr. Van Oosten.

But while the smelt season has been a flop, sport fishermen are all excited over the surprisingly great improvement in perch and walleye fishing, particularly the latter. They claim the walleye became scarce in the district when the smelt came in, but now fine catches are being made at the mouths of the Escanaba, Ford, Whitefish and Sturgeon rivers. And of course, a dyed-in-the-wool sport fisherman would trade a smelt for a walleye, anytime.

No Deal With Hitler

WHILE our relations with Russia are constantly improving every once in awhile some one injects the disturbing note that there is always the possibility that Stalin might decide to strike a bargain with Hitler and withdraw from the conflict. Those who submit this idea point out that Russia and Germany made a deal once before to cut off slices of Finland and Poland.

Perhaps, the best argument to allay the fears of those who distrust Russia on this score is that since the breaking of the Hitler-Stalin pact the Russian people have suffered indescribable sufferings at the hands of the Nazi invaders. Virtually every Russian home has been visited by the Nazi horror, and there will be no forgetting it for centuries.

Millions of young Russians have seen their parents or relatives murdered or mutilated as the German army retreats from captured Russian cities, according to Edgar Snow in an article in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

The policy of extermination of the Slavic nations has been declared to be one of the principal functions of Nazism by Hitler, if it requires the wiping out of twenty million people. The Russian people and their leaders know this for they already have witnessed Nazi atrocities on an unbelievable scale. That Stalin would make a separate peace with Hitler after such carnage is unthinkable.

Wasteful Statesmanship

THE perennial question, "What is the Congress?" is answered by Representative Albert Gore of Tennessee. Speaking to the United States Chamber of Commerce the other day, he insisted that the national legislature needed two things.

First, it should subordinate its sectional interests to the national good. Second, it should strive against the "aggressive, ever-expanding bureaucracy" of the executive branch of government.

Congress, he explains, is clumsy and old-fashioned. It has not kept up with national development in an era of great change and growth. "A streamlining of our traditional legislative processes is imperative if Congress is to cease losing its independence to the executive branch and stop forfeiting public esteem."

He seems to have hit the nail on the head.

One of the first things Congress should do, when it starts remodeling itself, is to abolish the overlapping committee that waste so much time. Apparently there are four or five committees for nearly everything that has to be done, duplicating wasting time and getting into each other's hair.

Four-Legged Rats

THIS country was at war long before Pearl Harbor, and will continue to be so long after Hitler and Hirohito are consigned to their graves. The war is against rats, the four-legged variety, and it is as formidable as any battle in Tunisia or at Guadalcanal.

The Food and Drug Administration is sponsoring this war in connection with clean-up drives. Some of its facts are startling. To begin with, people are outnumbered. One of the largest cities in America has nearly a million population, but twice that number of rats. Left alone, a pair of rats could breed, within three years, to 259,000,000. The less than 2,000,000 rats in the community referred to destroy annually enough food to feed 17,500 soldiers. They carry all manner of diseases, including such menaces as bubonic plague and typhus.

Some pessimists have said that in the long run the world will not be man's, but will belong to pests like the rat. It might be true if people, even when fighting another war, should relax their battle against the rats. So fortify all houses and business places against their entrance, and destroy them remorselessly.

Yale Liquor Fellowships

GRANTING of fellowships to the Yale university school of alcoholic studies to James D. Dotsch and Lawrence McCracken, educational directors of the Michigan Congress of Table Top Licensees and the Michigan Liquor Control commission, respectively, has been announced. They will begin their fellowship studies on July 7.

Probably some good will come out of this, but it appears quite incongruous that the fellowships should be given to those who represent two agencies that are primarily interested in the distribution of alcoholic liquors. But we suppose the idea behind the award of the fellowships is to get word to the liquor interests that their survival depends upon temperate drinking, otherwise something like prohibition is likely to return.

We believe more good would result if the Yale fellowships were awarded to the 48 state superintendents of public instruction. They could in turn introduce studies in the public school systems to show American youth the harmful effects of excessive drinking.

School textbooks give little consideration to the drinking problem. The books on physiology have dealt with the harmful effects of the excessive use of alcohol upon health, but books on sociology and civics might do more to show the relation between alcohol and crime and other social problems.

Typhoid Fight Won

ONLY a few decades ago the summer months constituted a period of great fear because of outbreaks of typhoid, and no agency or organization in the land was more alert to detect these epidemics than the United States army. The army has been fighting typhoid for many years, and though a case of it is now rare in military circles, war against the disease continues.

Typhoid is contracted by taking germs into the alimentary canal through the mouth. Swallowing millions of live germs should therefore be a pretty conclusive test of one's immunity, and it is the establishing of this immunity and keeping it that constitutes an unheralded warfare which the United States army carries on in times of peace and war.

It is interesting to note that, while typhoid is almost 100 per cent under control, and the life history of the bacteria causing it is thoroughly known, physicians do not know the exact nature of the bodies producing immunization after the injection of dead germs. In spite of this mystery, they wage their unceasing battle and it is conceivable that the day will come when the disease is unknown.

EXPLANATIONS FIRST, PLLEASE
(Detroit Free Press)

There is considerable to-do brewing about OPA's provision that motorists' license numbers be written upon the back of every ration coupon with each gasoline purchase. Service-station operators tell of assorted headaches incurred in arguments with patrons who have no writing implements, who think the provision is a lot of nonsense or who drive away before affixing the proper inscriptions.

OPA is reported to be considering a new tactic: requiring motorists to inscribe the back of each coupon at the time new books are issued. But before the agency dives still deeper and comes up with something even more fearsome it might take a day off and explain in full detail why ANY inscribing is necessary.

The reasons thereof may be valid, but all the surface evidence points to doubt bigger than a tank car. Until such time, the writing requirement looks like nothing so much as a time-wasting and wholly irrelevant literacy test.

Take My Word For it . . Frank Colby

SURPRISE WORD OF THE WEEK

The word GRIMACE, "a distortion of the face," is familiar enough to the average person, but most of us give it the erroneous pronunciation "GRIM-iss." But grimace, both noun and verb, should be accented on the second syllable, which has the exact sound of the word "ace." Be sure to say: grim-ACE

The word is from the Spanish grima (GREE-mah), "horror, terror," and comes to us through the French.

It's Hard to Believe

Akron: Please pronounce and give the origin of the word CANAPE, a kind of appetizer.—Mrs. G. I.

Answer: Both "a's" are approximately as flat as in can, nap. Accent the third syllable, thus:

ka-na-PAY

Canape has an origin that is almost unbelievably curious. The word is French, but in that language it designates, not something from the snack bar, but simply a rather long sofa capable of holding several persons.

Not only that, in the Latin form conopeum, it means "a canopy, or a bed equipped with mosquito netting." Stranger still, the Latin form is from the Greek word konops, which means (hold on tight), "a gnat, or mosquito!"

It's hard to believe that if you offer a tray of canapes to your guests, they will be justified in shouting, "Quick, Henry, the spray gun," but it's true.

Just out this week, my new pamphlet listing and explaining the important "combining forms" which make up such words as microphone, monogram, philanthropy, periscope, etc. Fascinating and instructive, and easy to understand. Send a stamped (3c), self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper. Ask for COMBINING FORMS Pamphlet. It's free.

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles—President Roosevelt's unwillingness to sign a tax bill embodying the Ruml Plan puts a small minority of Americans in a very inferior position. They are inferior to the rest of the American people, and inferior to the peoples of foreign nations who have received gifts of billions of dollars out of the United States Treasury with no thought or pretense that the debts will ever be paid.

This group is composed of executives, professional men, whose incomes are derived from fees, artists and a few others of exceptional earning ability unconnected with the war. Most of them have reached and many of them have passed the peak of their earning power, and, unlike Mr. Roosevelt and Henry Morgenthau, have no backlog of inherited wealth from which to pay on two years' incomes in one, the whole amounting in some cases to more than 100 per cent of their earnings for 1943. They have been paying last year's income taxes out of this year's earnings from the beginning because Congress planned it so in 1913.

The President and Mr. Morgenthau, with vast inherited wealth, can dig into their capital and make themselves current, as the phrase goes, without serious inconvenience, whereas men and women who started with nothing but unusual ability and diligence may be wiped out as an economic class this year. Thus, the New Deal's tax plan is not a tax to sock the rich, who can meet it and still survive, but a plan to punish a group which happens to embrace most of the party's most annoying opponents and critics.

—A POLITICAL APPEAL—

The administration's willingness to abandon entirely the debt owed by vast numbers of earners in the lower brackets is not only a political appeal for the gratitude of this economic group, but practical recognition of the fact that they aren't used to the income tax. Many don't yet believe that it applies to them, haven't got the money to pay it and can't be compelled to pay. There are so many of such tax debtors that it is a practical impossibility to run them all down, and indict them and send them to prison or get judgment against them and sell out their property. This process would cost more than it would yield and, more important, would be unwise politics.

Those, however, who have been paying large income taxes in arrears, regularly, for years, do have investments or other property which could be converted, although, at a great loss of value, and they cannot escape. They are not rich like Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau, but they look rich over the years, they have lived well in proportion to their earnings, paying last year's taxes faithfully out of current earnings and saving a portion year by year against old age and the end of their high earning powers.

The objection that tax forgiveness would be economic heresy is not applied to the new class of tax debtors, in the lower brackets, and is therefore inconsistent and, of course, insincere and strictly political. If it were based on principle, no person would be forgiven for any portion of this arrears as a means of bringing him up to date, but the political plan of the party is not intended to offend or discomfort those who might thus be put in a grateful mood. And few of the upper-bracket debtors would be so overwhelmed with gratitude as to vote for a fourth term in any case.

—BUT RACKETS CONTINUE—

Meanwhile, although the treasury needs the money, Mr. Roosevelt has made it possible for his political following in the union movement to siphon off hundreds of millions of dollars of the whole people's money into the private, mysterious pools of union finance. Vast amounts of this money have been stolen by thieves, who stationed themselves astride the roads leading to projects and plants built for the war, and shook down hundreds of thousands of workers for a portion of their pay, derived from the public funds.

In many cases these extortions would have been sufficient to pay the victim's income taxes which it is now proposed to forgive because they haven't got the money, but the union racket has had a lien on such earnings, prior even to the Federal income tax.

The earning class in the high brackets, as distinguished from the hereditary rich, come after the Russians, the British, the Chinese and miscellaneous others in the consideration of their own country's government. They must pay, though it breaks them to do so at a time of life when they cannot hope to recoup. The foreigner needn't worry. He has no intention to pay and he won't be asked to pay and there is no thought of selling him out at auction to satisfy his debt.

It is significant in this connection that Randolph Paul, the treasury's counsel, when he wished to express his objections to the Ruml Plan selected for his medium the official publication of the Lawyers' Guild, whose first president, Judge Ferdinand Pecora, resigned his membership on the ground that it was dominated by Communist lawyers.

What Kind of a Game Is This?

Good Morning!

LETTER — Suppose someone asked you to sit down and write a letter which would be read by all of the Escanaba men in service—a letter which would attempt to tell those men what has happened here since they left. A letter, perhaps, that you wanted to be truthful, and yet cheerful. Would you write a letter something like this?

DEAR JOE:

How are things with you? Still giving the Axis the old one-two I hope. I know you would like to know how things are at home these days, so I thought I would tell you all about what's happened here in Escanaba.

First of all, spring is late in arriving here this year. Leaves on the trees come part way out and then along comes a cold wave and they start curling back into buds again. Folks here are cursing the weather, for just about everybody has planted a Victory Garden and they'd like to see it really popping along—what with the price of spuds as it is.

Big news for awhile this spring was the smelt that didn't run. You remembers how we used to dip smelt at the Days, Tacoosh and Ford Rivers? Well, you could have dipped there for a week (as some folks did) and get nothing else but tired.

Although the smelt didn't arrive at all and spring seems to be in the same reluctant mood, it is heartening to walk in the woodlands these days. Trees may still look naked without their leaves, but the ground beneath the hardwoods are carpeted with trillium, dog-tooth violet, and spring beauties. The pine ridges are covered with wintergreen berries and trailing arbutus—but what's the use of going on this way? You always liked the woods and this will only make you homesick.

HOME FRONT—Here at home we have all we want to eat. None of us go hungry or have to sleep on the ground or in a fox hole. All of us are working a little harder than we did before, and all of us are making certain sacrifices that perhaps to you will not sound like much of a sacrifice at all.

For instance, Joe, we were caught short on our coffee ration coupons a few days ago and for several mornings we had to go without our breakfast coffee. Of course we did have tea, cocoa and milk—and there was always water handy. Once in a while meat rationing catches up with our appetites and we find we have to go without our Sunday roast and have fish instead—but there are lots of fish.

Folks here are still talking about the three-inch-thick steaks served at a hotel dinner recently to an invited list of guests. It was a big-wig affair with lots of titles and more speeches than you would care to hear. But the whole thing seemed to be necessary to carry on the war effort efficiently.

EFFICIENCY — And talking about efficiency leads us around to the Escanaba dock project about which I wrote you some time ago. Now it seems not even one dock is to be completed. There is a lack of materials.

Sometime somebody is going to ask: Was it necessary? and then it will be too late, if it isn't too late already. Was it necessary? That might have been asked in the first place, before the project was started. Now some folks say it wasn't, others say it was.

Within a week or two the project will close, although a considerable effort was made to have at least one or two docks completed. It might have been a good thing to have asked those who wanted to have the project continued: Is it necessary?

HOW IT IS—Don't let all this talk of strikes in defense plants get you down. The people of this country just won't let that sort of thing go too far—or has it gone too far already? Anyway, don't be worried about it. Most people don't seem to bother about it very much.

Right here in Escanaba there are folks who feel very seriously about the labor situation. They talk about it over the bridge tables and on the golf courses, in the bars and dance halls. One man even told me that he hardly enjoyed the movies any more, just thinking about how awful it was.

And say, Joe, remember how Delta county was always at the top on any campaign to raise money? Well it did it on war bonds, too. Went way over the top on that. Of course some folks find it a little hard to help out at Red Cross, and now and then you hear that Civilian Defense is on its last legs and they're having a hard time rounding up airplane spotters. But don't you worry, Joe, everything's going to be all right.

SINCERE—Although you might not think so, most folks here are sincerely working to help the war effort in one way or another. You'd be surprised if you came back now to find how many people have moved away to take jobs in defense plants. That is a big contribution, for most of them would much rather stay at home—you always liked Escanaba, too, Joe.

And then not too far in the future you are going to have a lot of our married men in service. Altogether most of us here at home are with you one hundred per cent in spirit—and a lot more are going to be with you in person.

—Clint Dunathan.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1933

Ore shipments out of Escanaba will start two days ahead of last year when the carrier Butler will clear from the North Western docks on Friday.

Moran and Mack, the "Two Black Crows" of phonograph and radio fame, are appearing at the Delft theater in the film "Hypnotized."

The temperature in Escanaba rose to nearly 80 degrees yesterday.

Gladstone—Julius A. Bredahl, members of the Gladstone board of education, has announced that he will be a candidate for reelection.

20 Years Ago—1923

Manistique — Mrs. Lloyd Willour was hostess at her home at a shower for Miss Alice Rasmussen, who will marry Antoine Weingartner.

Gladstone — Acting on the suggestion of Mayor Bushong and City Manager Ham, Boy Scouts of Gladstone will do the city a "good turn" by cleaning up the lake shore park area.

Arthur Peterson of Escanaba has been reappointed by Gov. Groesbeck for another four year term as a member of the Michigan State Fair board.

Hart Smith, Chicago aviator, will fly an airplane over Escanaba on Memorial Day, dropping flowers on the cemeteries and into the bay. His services have been arranged for by the Escanaba Legion post.

25 Years Ago—1918

Gordon "Kayo" Campbell of Escanaba has arrived overseas, his relatives here have been informed.

Edward and Austin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Stromberg of Escanaba, both have enlisted in the service of their country.

Nathan J. Frenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Frenn of Escanaba, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at Camp Custer.

Judge C. D. McEwen has received word that his son, Cassius, has been advanced to the rank of sergeant at Camp American University, Washington, D. C.

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. Are living persons ever depicted on United States stamps? M. R. E.

A. The Post Office Department says that Section 136, Postal Laws and Regulations, prohibits the use of the portrait of a living individual on fiscal issues of the Government, which include postage stamps.

Q. In normal times what was the per capita cost of government in the United States as compared with Great Britain? E. McD.

A. According to a study by the Twentieth Century Fund made before the outbreak of the present war, the amount per capita spent for this purpose in the United States was $133, in Great Britain $123.

Q. When did the Pope first leave the Vatican after his voluntary seclusion of many years? M. T. H.

A. Pope Pius XI was the first to leave the Vatican, on July 25, 1929, after the settlement of the long-standing dispute with the Italian Government. From 1870 to 1928, the Pope had remained a voluntary prisoner.

Q. What are the colors of the flag of the National Geographic Society? W. E. N.

A. The flag consists of three solid stripes, blue for the sky, brown for the earth and green for the sea.

Q. What is the difference between a fort and a camp? S. E. U.

A. The War Department says that a fort is a permanent Army post, while a camp is a place occupied temporarily by troops.

Q. Do the various tribes of Indians still have medicine men? L. G.

A. They are not so numerous as formerly. The practices of the medicine men are rapidly passing away, due to the fact that the Government has established hospitals on most of the Indian reservations, and employs physicians who render medical and surgical services.

Q. Please give the dimensions of the whale Colossus which toured the country some years ago. P. M.

A. The whale was 55 feet long and weighed 68 tons. The heart weighed 1,200 pounds, tongue 500 pounds and had a 15 foot mouth. Captured near Catalina Island off the California coast, it was embalmed and sent on a tour of the continent on a specially constructed railway car.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Pearson

Washington — Naturally Harry Hopkins and the President both read over the Churchill speech in advance, and one particular portion, according to insiders, bears the stamp of Hopkins.

It was the reference to the dual position of Roosevelt as both the President of the United States and Commander-in-Chief. Political advisers detect in this the seeds for the 4th term campaign, if there is one. What Churchill said was:

"The wisdom of the founders of the American Constitution led them to associate the office of Commander-in-Chief with that of the Presidency of the United States. In this they were following the precedents which were successful in the case of George Washington.

"It is remarkable that, after more than 150 years, this combination of political and military authority has been found necessary not only in the United States but in the case of Marshal Stalin in Russia and of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in China."

Then Churchill proceeded to emphasize that total war today required coordination by the chief of government and the chief of the Army and Navy all under one head.

Interesting fact is that this dovetails with the strategy already devised by high-up political advisers of the President, that in any 4th Term campaign it should be hammered home that Roosevelt is the Commander-in-Chief and that the job of Commander-in-Chief must not be changed in war time.

It is also proposed that the President open no campaign headquarters and make almost no speeches. All this, of course, is dependent upon whether or not he runs for a 4th Term—which he will not decide until June, 1944.

Anyway, it looks as if the Prime Minister had already laid the groundwork for '44.

—CLAUDE WICKARD'S HOGS—

The air-cooled office of the Secretary of Agriculture has been vacant. This is corn planting time in Indiana, and Claude Wickard has gone back to Carroll County to take care of the planting.

Most of the time, Wickard manages his 380-acre farm by long distance telephone, and by writing letters to his mother, his daughter Anne, and the two hired men. He dictates one letter, sending his mother the original, with carbon copies to the others.

His father used to manage the place, but he is now seriously ill. Daughter Anne, a student at Purdue University, 18 miles away, drives to the farm every week-end.

But at spring planting time, Wickard has to get back to the grass roots himself.

In Indiana they know Claude as a big hog man. He has 600 head of little pigs, and his last batch of hogs marketed at an average of 222 pounds each.

With prices at present levels, Wickard makes more money as a farmer than he does as a Cabinet member—salary $15,000.

—CAPITOL CHAFF—

Representative Ditter of Pennsylvania has been kidding the Administration about placing tongue at six ration points, and giving only three to brains. But genial Assistant Postmaster General Walter Myers goes him one better. He points out that apple-sauce rates 13 points! . . . . . In the Regions Office of the Rockefeller Committee works Miles Standish. In the News Room of the same outfit works John Alden. The other day for the first time Nelson Riley brought them together . . . . . Ghost-writer for Congressman Gene Cox's vituperative attacks on Chairman Fly of the Federal Communications Commission is reported to by Sol Taischoff, editor of "Broadcasting" magazine who has nursed an old grudge against Fly.

—BRITISH GUEST—

Popular Brig. Gen. C. L. Lindemann, counselor of the British Embassy, got a hurry call from Lady Halifax the other day asking him to dine at the Embassy with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

The Duke and Duchess had just arrived in town, rather unexpectedly, and wanted to see Gen. Lindemann, who is an old friend. In England a dinner invitation from royalty is considered a command. It is like a dinner invitation from the White House, not to be declined. But, Gen. Lindemann told Lady Halifax:

"I've already accepted an invitation to dine with some Americans, and these days when people invite you to dinner they go to a lot of trouble. So I just can't let them down at the last moment."

Lady Halifax agreed. So considerate Gen. Lindemann came in to see the Duke and Duchess after dinner.

—PARIS FASHION SHOWS—

Reports from France by way of England indicate that Paris still considers itself the style center of the world, still stages elegant fashion shows. But for whom? An exclusive group of wealthy Germans and French collaborators who are busy buying fur coats and evening gowns for their ladies with peace-time extravagance.

A fashion magazine has been received from France which tells the whole story—a 125 page issue of the Album de la Mode Figaro. It sets forth, with elaborate illustrations, the great array of new dresses available for the favored children of the New Order.

There are embroidered gowns, lace-trimmed blouses, fur handbags, sable coats with sable hoods attached, and new designs in great assortment by Rouff, and Piguet.

The prices are high, the patrons wealthy. They carry a special ration card known as a carte de haute couture, issued only to Germans, or French collaborationists, entitling the bearer to buy the latest creations, while the rest of France wears the tattered clothes of oppression.

Take a tip from money—it talks but doesn't give itself away.

Big Frog Killed By Bomb Was Pathetic Sight -Pyle

BY ERNIE PYLE

Allied Headquarters, North Africa (by wireless)—Little items . . . The constant boom and roll of heavy artillery are still to me the most saddening, sickening, doom-spelling sound of all the ghastly war noises I know . . . One of the funniest sights of the war to me so far is to see an Arab, clad in nothing but American G. I. skin-tight winter underwear, running along behind a caravan of camels . . .

Pyle

The most pathetic little sight I've seen in the war was just after a 500-pound bomb landed in the garden of a monastery (only 50 yards from my tent, incidentally) . . . We went over to look at the great crater it left, and lying there just outside the rim of the crater was a big frog, dead from concussion. His legs were still spread, in leaping position, his eyes still open, his mouth still agape as if just about to say in hurt wonderment: "Why did you want to do this to me?"

Maj. Charles Miller of Detroit has a Rolleicord camera and 10 rolls of film that he bought from an English-speaking Italian prisoner. When he offered to buy it the prisoner was aghast. He said: "Why, I'm a prisoner. It's yours. You don't buy it, you take it." But Major Miller told him we didn't do it that way over here, and he gave the Italian three times as much as the price the prisoner finally proposed. At home the same camera would cost $200.

We aren't the only ones who like to collect enemy gear. The Germans did the same. German prisoners showed up with American mess kits and with Tommy guns, and even wearing pieces of American uniforms.

The Germans worked up a terrific respect for the uncanny accuracy of our artillery. It was so perfect it had them agog. They tell of one German officer, taken prisoner before the collapse, who when brought into camp said:

"I know you're going to kill me, but before you do would you let me see that automatic artillery of yours?"

We didn't kill him, of course, and neither did we show him our automatic artillery, because we haven't got any. We're just crack shots, that's all.

A fighter pilot I know—a squadron leader—sent close to 200 Germans to their doom. He was homeward bound from a mission and flying right on the dock—in other words just above the ground. He zoomed over a little rise in the ground, and there straight ahead, dead in his sights, was the evening chow line behind a German truck.

It all happened in a second. There wasn't time for the Germans to duck. The pilot simply pressed the button, cannon shells streamed forth, and Germans and pieces of Germans flew in all directions.

The squadron leader barely mentioned it in his report when he got back. He says it almost made him sick. Killing is his business, but it is killing an opponent in the air that he likes. I'm not even giving his name, because he feels so badly about it.

I have run onto another dog that came all the way from America. He is a black-and-white springer spaniel, and he sprang from the dog pound at St. Petersburg, Fla. Two pilots originally had him—Lieut. Richard East, of East Orange, N. J., and Lieut. Harold Taft, of Jefferson, Ind. They named him Duckworth, after the third member of their original flying-school trio—Lieut. Stewart Duckworth of Boston.

Duckworth has checked out in seven different kinds of airplanes. He has flown across the Atlantic, and twice across Africa, and once up and once down Africa. He loves to fly.

I heard one pilot who had a pet cat that burst its eardrums on its first flight and is now stone deaf. But the boys stuff cotton in Duckworth's ears and he's o. k.

He has a little ritual of always running around to the left wheel the moment he gets out of a plane, and paying a little formal call on Mother Nature.

The dog's namesake, Lieutenant Duckworth, is now at Randalph Field, Texas, fretting because he isn't overseas in combat. The dog's co-owner, Lieutenant East, is one of those who never came back from a Tunisian mission. So Duckworth now belongs only to Lieutenant Taft, who humors him and cusses him and is very proud of him.

He says Duckworth is the biggest ladies' man in Africa.

King Gustav Still Has Much Political Power

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Stockholm — (by wireless) — Probably no monarch or chief of state anywhere plays his part quite as King Gustav. He is far from a figurehead, as demonstrated in one war crisis here. Instead of age reducing him to a mere name, I have the word of an opposition firebrand that the king's 85 years are a mighty force in Sweden.

Clapper

His very age gives him a patriarchial power which he does not hesitate to use in both large and small things occasionally. Indeed, under Swedish law the king is the principal representative of the people's will, in which fact lies his responsibility and his right to interfere whenever the seriousness of the situation calls for such action on his part.

King Still Plays Tennis

Yesterday I saw him play tennis on a public court. Several of us had been invited to be presented. The King came out of the tennis dressing room, wear long flannels, a long white polo coat and white hat, and carrying a racket. He stopped and chatted with us, apologized for trying to play tennis at his age. But, he said, he liked the game so why not play? It is remarkable that any person of 85 could be active on his feet through such a game, much less handle a racket with the quick coordination required.

We visitors regarded it as phenomenal, but there was no excitement around the court, which was open to all on payment of a small fee. Several persons were playing on other courts, and perhaps more than a hundred persons scattered around the clubhouse Veranda, talking among themselves. Only a dozen or so bothered to sit in the gallery to watch him play, although this was the first time the King had played outdoors since his serious illness some months ago.

Not even per Albin Hansson, prime minister for a decade and boss of the Social Democratic Party, feels strong enough to oppose the King on a showdown — as when the Germans demanded permission to send a division thrugh Sweden to help the Finns. The Social Democrats were against allowing the German division to go through. They considered this a violation of neutrality, and also they were against the Nazis anyway. However, the King steered his country through without becoming involved in the war. It was a probability that, if permission had been refused, the Germans would have forcibly entered Sweden. The King took a strong position for letting the division go through, but he was emphatic that no more could be permitted again.

Exercises Power Seldom

There has been much discussion about the dramatic conference between the King and the prime minister. The King took responsibility for the action. The fact that it helped to prevent the Russians from over-running Finland made the move popular with those in Sweden who strongly fear Russia. This incident demonstrated the political power of the King, although it is not exercised frequently.

The Social Democratic Party were in the majority, but the conservatives joined in the wartime coalition. The growing issue now is over whether to continue the coalition after the war or to return to party government. Hansson, who has been in power 10 years, wants to continue the coalition. It makes his job simpler, his position more secure. However, some active members of his party want a return to party government, feeling that the present static condition is a bad thing to continue indefinitely. They accept it now only as a necessary evil.

One effect of it is to drive the discontented into the Communist ranks for an outlet. One armament manufacturer told me that his plant, with four thousand employes, has 500 enrolled party members and a thousand others who are sympathetic and attend Communist meetings. The Communist Party is small in Sweden, but is growing as a protest against the static, cozy government coalition.

That is another reason why some of the younger Social Democrats want to get back to normal party government, with healthy opposition. They figure that conservative opposition would be a good thing for the Social Democratic majority, which would then rally its forces into more active life.

SCHOOL STAFF TO BE REDUCED

Seven Less Teachers In Escanaba System Next Year

Anticipating a reduction in school enrollment, the Escanaba public schools teaching staff will be reduced by seven teachers next fall, Supt. John A. Lemmer reported yesterday.

Eleven teachers left the Escanaba school system during the current year and only two of them were replaced. Ten others will not return next fall. Twelve new teachers have been signed for next year, the superintendent announced.

Of the 11 teachers who left during the current year, two accepted positions in other schools, four were married, two entered the armed forces and three left the teaching profession to accept other positions.

The teachers who will not return next fall are: Beatrice Calkins, Webster; Betty Ungerman, second grade, Washington; Marcella Mann, third grade, Washington; Miriam Dale, second grade, Washington; Ethelin Prittinen, second grade, Franklin; Ingrid Pylvainen, fifth grade, Washington; Marie Bezold, senior high school history; Annabelle Carroll, senior high school library; Margaret Kennelly, senior high school commercial and Florence Londerville, junior high school science. The latter two teachers will retire at the close of the present year.

New teachers hired for next year follow: Northern State Teachers College, Ellen Sikorsky, home economics; Gaeney Ryan, primary; Martha Siekkinen, primary; Milwaukee State Teachers College, Doris Menger, primary; June Washburn, elementary; Oliver Wegner, elementary; Jane Olson, ungraded; Winona State Teachers College, Virginia Schuh, junior high school history; College of St. Theresa, Marjorie Safronek, junior high school science; Nell Roth senior high school library; University of Minnesota, Betty Jo Arnold, primary; St. Cloud State Teachers College, Elizabeth Michela, primary.

Prentiss M. Brown Has An Operation

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown, former Senator from Michigan, and former Representative from this district, was operated on for a tumor on his right arm at Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland, on Saturday, it was learned today.

According to friends, the OPA chief is recovering in good shape and returned to his home on Sunday.

Diocesan Youth Convention Draws Attendance Of 1,500

Over 1,500 young people, representing Catholic Youth organizations of twenty-five Upper Peninsula cities, members of the Sisterhood engaged as teachers in the parochial schools and seventy-five members of the clergy, headed by His Excellency, the Most Rev. Francis J. Magner, Bishop of Marquette, attended the highly successful third annual convention of the Marquette Diocesan Sodality Union and Youth Spiritual Organization, held in Escanaba on Wednesday, with St. Joseph's high school, host organization.

Leader of the convention was the Rev. Herbert O'H. Walker, S. J., prominent Catholic author, head of the Scriviners, national association of writers and literary and art editor of "The Queen's Work," national publication of the Sodality of Our Lady, and an able assistant throughout the activities of the day was Rev. Fr. Martin B. Melican, of Marquette, diocesan director of schools.

The convention opened with a Pontifical High Mass at St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock, at which the Most Rev. Bishop Magner was celebrant, assisted by members of the resident and visiting clergy.

Bishop's Welcome

In his welcome to the convention congregation at the Pontifical Mass, the Most Rev. Bishop Magner cited the fact, that in the chaos of a war-torn world are "magnificent opportunities to see wonderful ideals all around us."

Touching briefly on spiritual training, he declared:

"It is my deep conviction that our future will be in a very large sense safe because you young people will be a part of it."

He spoke of the inspiration of the demonstration of faith manifested by the convention assembly and emphasized its particular importance this year in view of the fact that war-time conditions may make impossible another such a gathering under the same circumstances.

The Bishop entered the church to celebrate the Pontifical High Mass, in procession from the rectory in which he was attended by acolytes, members of the clergy, including the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry A. Buchholtz, P.A.V.C., of St. Peter's Cathedral, Marquette; the Very Rev. Joseph Zyrd, D. D. J. C. D., Chancellor, and the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy, of St. Patrick's church, head of the Deanery, and by two small pages, who were attired in white satin costumes.

The opening address by Rev. Fr. Walker, on "A Militant Sodalist in Militant Times," was delivered immediately following the mass.

Afternoon Discussion

"A Sodalist's Mind in a Time of Warring Opinions" and "A Sodalist, the Ambassador of the Kingdom," were the themes of the afternoon session at William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, which under the skilled guidance of Rev. Fr. Walker, and impelled by his keen and kindly comments developed into a lively discussion in which the delegates expressed their opinions on various matters, all dealing directly with the battle which the Catholic life and the Catholic mind must wage with the ideologies of Communism, Fascism and Nazism, which are warring against Christianity.

The convention sessions proper were closed with Solemn Benediction at four o'clock at St. Joseph's church, celebrated by the Most Rev. Bishop Magner. The music of the Benediction was sung by the assembly. "Missa Brevis," by Nicola Montani, was sung by a choir of beautifully blended voices, composed of St. Joseph's students, during the Pontifical Mass.

At noon a dinner was served members of the clergy, the Sisters and visiting delegates in St. Joseph's parish hall, with the ladies of St. Joseph's parish in charge, assisted by the junior and senior girls of the high school. Sweetpeas and cedar boughs were used in the table decorations, and individual bouquets of the two were at each place.

Social Hour

A social hour and dancing party in William Bonifas gymnasium followed the convention, with decorations combining the Sodality colors, blue and white, with an effective arrangement of cedar bows. A statue of the Blessed Mother, at the base of which were arranged baskets of flowers was the central note on the stage at William W. Oliver Auditorium, and also in the William Bonifas gymnasium for the social.

Community singing during the convention sessions was led by Tom Harris with accompaniments by Therese Corcoran.

Communities represented at the convention were Baraga, Crystal Falls, Channing, Engadine, Gaastra, Gladstone, Hermansville, Houghton, Ironwood, Iron River, Iron Mountain, Ishpeming, Kingsford, Laurium, L'Anse, Marquette, Manistique, Menominee, Nadeau, Negaunee, Sault Ste. Marie, St. Ignace, Wakefield and the host city, Escanaba.

LUMBER CLINIC AT MILWAUKEE

Hardwood Buying Session Will Be Held On Friday

O. T. Swan, Oshkosh, manager of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers Association, announced that the Army Engineers will hold a hardwood lumber buying conference at the Pfister Hotel, Milwaukee on Friday, May 28. Colonel F. G. Sherrill, chief of the materials and equipment section of the Corps of Engineers of the Army, Washington, D. C.; Major M. S. McDonnell in charge of lumber production in the resources and production division of the Army Service Forces, and M. W. Stark, in charges of purchases of the motor vehicle branch, War Department, Detroit, will handle the lumber letting. All hardwood lumber producers who can sell or contract to make hardwood are urged to be present. It is said all suitable lumber offered will be taken.

On Thursday, May 27, the Lumber association is staging a lumber production clinic to discuss the revisions in government orders and directives which are necessary to maintain an adequate flow of essential products from the forests. A delegation from the agencies most concerned will be present to join in an effort to correlate the work of the various branches. Those participating include:

Henry G. Champeaux, OPA lumber division, Washington, D.C.

George Tobias, chief of the lumber industry section, War Manpower Commission, Washington, D. C.

Harold Holman, War Production Board, Washington, D. C.

Robert Burns, chief, Regional War Labor Board, Chicago.

J. H. Price, regional forester, U. S. forest service, Milwaukee.

Harold C. Collins of Wausau, president of the association, will preside at the sessions during Thursday.

Your Phone and 693 will Buy, Sell and Rent for you.

The nation's highways, too, are doing their part for victory. In addition to the large volume of military traffic, the bus lines carried more than 650 million passengers in 1942—nearly six times the population of the U. S. And still more are riding this year.

These millions are not traveling for scenery or pleasure. Most of them are selectees, military personnel, and war workers. Others are farmers, nurses, teachers—people in nearly every walk of life whose trips in some way or other are essential to the national welfare.

Greyhound is putting all its efforts, experience and resources into helping perform the biggest transportation job of all time. That is why our service to you now cannot always be what we would like to give, or what you have come to expect of Greyhound. We appreciate your consideration of these conditions created by the war.

But when victory is won, travelers will be rewarded. Then you can look to Greyhound for a brand-new chapter in comfortable, convenient, enjoyable highway transportation.

LIBRARIAN HAS BEEN ENGAGED

St. Paul Girl Will Have Charge Of Children's Department

Announcement was made yesterday by the board of trustees of the Carnegie public library that Miss Jean Kathryn Trantanella of St. Paul had been engaged to fill the newly created position of children's librarian here.

Miss Trantanella is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where she majored in library science and history. She did her practice work in the Riverview branch of the St. Paul public library and the Roosevelt branch of the Minneapolis public library. Since July of last year, Miss Trantanella has been working as assistant to Lura C. Hutchinson, associate professor of the division of library instruction at the University of Minnesota.

The children's librarian, who will assume her duties here in August, has been highly recommended by Miss Hutchinson and the librarians of the St. Paul and Minneapolis public libraries.

The establishment of the children's library department here has been made possible by the Escanaba city council, which sometime ago voted to appropriate $2,000 annually for its maintenance.

SPEEDER LOSES ONE 'A' STAMP

Ration Board Clamping Down On Rationing Violators

For operating his automobile in excess of the 35mph speed limit, Arnold Brannstrom, Ensign farmer, was penalized one "A" coupon from his gasoline ration book and ordered to have his speedometer repaired by June 1 at a hearing conducted by the local war price and rationing board Wednesday. In lieu of having his speedometer repaired, Brannstrom must present a certified statement from a recognized garage that it cannot be repaired.

The ration board warned Brannstrom that a second offense would result in the loss of all of his ration coupons. The removal of only one "A" coupon for the first offense was predicated upon the fact that Brannstrom needs his car in essential agriculture, the board reported.

A number of other motorists have been notified to report to the board Friday for answer similar charges, it was reported.

Brannstrom's case is the first in Delta county in which the ration board has acted to withdraw ration coupons for violation of the gasoline rationing regulations.

He was not arrested by a police officer but the violation was reported to the ration board by an OPA investigator who is reported to have clocked Brannstrom operating at 45 miles per hour. The violation occurred April 30.

Upper Peninsula Makes Fine War Club Record

Lansing, May 26 (AP)—The upper peninsula counties were acclaimed today as having achieved more with their neighborhood war club program than any other major sector of the state.

Mrs. Joseph A. Foster, state secretary of the Citizens Service Corps, asserted that individual counties in the lower peninsula had recorded as much progress as any north of the Straits of Mackinac, but that no other area of the state could compare with the upper peninsula for size of organization, multitude of programs and originality of plans.

Mrs. Foster said all but Keweenaw and Alger counties in the peninsula have well organized neighborhood war club organizations.

"In many parts of the state," she said, "the clubs still primarily are distribution agencies for circulating official information, but in some of the counties they have developed major programs of their own. That is what we went to encourage and that is where some of the upper peninsula counties stand out."

Mrs. Foster pointed to Baraga county as one having a separate campaign for each month. In one week in December, a month after the clubs were organized, she said, 345 pounds of silk and nylon were collected; in January a share-the-meat campaign was staged, in addition to fats and tin can salvage collections. In February, the clubs conducted instructional meetings to teach methods of conserving shoes and clothes. In March, the clubs assisted in the Red Cross drive; in April they helped with a campaign to enlist more WAAC's and conducted a survey of prospective gardeners and of garden sites for the victory garden committee and in May was back with a silk and nylon salvage campaign.

Mrs. Foster quoted L. J. Brennan, civilian defense volunteer organization chairman for the county, as saying "It is not possible to give you the number of our volunteers in war clubs, because they are so numerous. We can safely say that every housewife in Baraga county seems to be in the war clubs."

The Houghton clubs were complimented by Mrs. Foster for having adopted a unique stimulus to the second war bond drive. She said each purchaser of a bond was allowed to sign an honor roll which will be placed aboard army bombers when they are delivered to the service.

The scrolls told the bomber crews "We realize that this is but a small service compared with yours, but we want you to know that we on the home front are trying to back you up in every way we can."

Mrs. Foster said Houghton clubs had one of the outstanding registers in the state, listing every family in each block, the number of persons in the family, and other important details. Such canvassers played an important part in bond and victory drives, in the latter of which 3,600 persons were canvassed to learn the number seeking farming lands.

Mrs. Foster said all the counties had conducted bond, scrap and victory garden campaigns.

PLUNGE TO EARTH

CHAPTER XV

To complicate matters, Rick was coming to, and the Jap probably would be in a few minutes.

"Can you fly this plane?" Brit asked Beth.

"Sorry. They made us everything except flyers at Des Moines."

Then it's up to you to keep the folks in the back seat under control."

Beth took care of Rick first. He was kicking around, and it was obvious that the captives' feet would have to be tied, as well as their hands.

Brit turned the cabin lights on. Beth looked for something she could use to tie ankles together. The bonds which she and Brit had shed were still back in the baggage compartment, which was inhabited in solitary—and finally quiet— ingloriousness by Lita Danton.

Attached to the wall were three parachutes. Beth pulled one of them apart and got a length of strong cord, borrowing Brit's knife to cut the material.

Then she went to the Jap. She reasoned that it would be better to tie him immediately, then struggle with Rick, than to take a chance on having to fight both of them—particularly since the Jap might know some tricks with his feet.

She put the cord around the Jap's ankles and made it secure.

"Now it's your turn," she said to Rick.

Rick Moth eyed her warily.

"Perhaps I should say, 'Now it is your turn, Herr Von Mothe,' " Beth said. "Whichever you prefer, it's your turn."

There was a firm set to her jaw.

She watched Rick carefully as she neared his feet. This was going to be a problem. Then she saw its solution almost as soon as she recognized its dangers.

She fastened one end of the cord firmly to the Jap's ankles. Then she formed a running loop in the bight of the cord.

She started toward Rick.

"Watch out," Brit warned.

Brit did not want Beth to be caught in a situation where Rick could use a threat to her safety as a leverage to regain control of the situation.

But there was no need to have any fears.

Beth stepped quickly past Rick, and as he turned to try to trip and kick her viciously, she threw the running loop over his legs and pulled as hard as she could.

She had the advantage, and in three seconds the helpless spy had been caught and dragged so that his ankles were tied to the Jap's.

It was a matter of another few seconds to tie the knot securely. Then Beth rolled the pair away from the center of the cabin and further lashed them to the side of the plane.

She returned to the front.

"Good work, Beth," Brit said. "You seem equal to anything. I've never seen anyone cooler . . . in the face of danger or possible death."

"A soldier has to face those things," Beth said, smiling.

"Right," Brit answered. "You know, the way I've always looked at it is that when the end comes, it will be just like getting transfer orders. I've been transferred a dozen times in the Army. Sometimes to a better spot, sometimes to a worse. Only almost always to a better one. There's something final about a transfer—it closes the chapter of your life which was spent at the last post." He stopped a moment. Then he resumed. "I've always thought that my final transfer would be that way—final, closing a chapter or maybe even the book, and maybe sending me to a better post."

"That's a good way to look at it, I think," Beth said. As she spoke, she realized that she and Brit had a great many things in kinship as far as their attitudes toward life were concerned.

"Fine time to talk of death," Brit laughed, "when we're staring it in the face." He switched off the cabin lights again so he could get a clearer view of the ocean. There's the island, but it's a thousand to one we'll never be able to come down on it."

Beth looked down on the island, dark and apparently lifeless. She knew that dark as it was, Brit was right. He knew, as commander of that island, that the tiny spot in the ocean bristled with hidden guns which would blast them down unless they could properly identify themselves. It had been daylight when Lita Danton's American-made Jap plane had first landed, but now it was night.

"You can't get through with the radio?" she asked.

"It was plenty of use to the Jap, but none to me. Wrong frequency."

"There aren't any flares?"

"Wouldn't do us any good. That would bring the guns into action."

Beth remembered that there were two parachutes hanging on the cabin wall.

"Brit,' she said, "could you fly over the island lengthwise—you know, so we went across it at its greatest length?"

"Sure," he said. "Why?" As he asked, he swung the plane around so that they were approaching one end of the island.

"Oh, I just wondered."

She dared not tell Brit her plan. So she went back into the cabin and removed one of the parachutes. She got into the harness, and made doubly certain it was securely attached.

"Goodby, Brit,' she said. "Stay aloft as long as you can."

He turned toward her. At first he did not understand what she was about to attempt. When he did, it was too late. Lieut. Beth Carter of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps had opened the cabin door and plunged free of the plane.

New York, May 26 (AP)—The bond market got a firm grip on recovery today, adding fractions to more than a point to Tuesday's gains for many rails, utilities and miscellaneous issues.

Trading picked up substantially on the extension of the rally, sales totalling $15,344,500 against $12,305,000 the day before. It was the busiest day since May 14. The 20 rails and 10 utilities in the Associated Press averages attained new highs, the former since 1937 and the latter since the start of 1943. Other groups reflected steadiness.

Leadership reposed to a large extent with the reorganization rails. St. Paul bonds were outstanding in that group, rising ¼ to 2 7-8 points. Total turnover in the seven listed issues ran to $2,242,000.

Also higher were obligations of the Baltimore & Ohio, North Western, Cleveland Union Terminal, Rio Grande Western, Illinois Central, International Telephone, Lehigh Valley, Katy, Missouri Pacific, New Haven, Otis Steel, 'Frisco, Seaboard and Southern Pacific.

Some of the South Americans were in supply among foreign issues. Sydney 5½s advanced 1½ to 91½.

U. S. governments held a narrow range but were generally steady.

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, May 26 (AP)—The stock market climbed another notch on expanded volume today as Wall Streeters talked about the "inflationary portents" of wage boost recommendations of federal agencies for soft coal miners and railroad employes in non-operating unions.

A few of the carrier stocks wilted near the finish as figures appeared estimating the cost to the railroad industry of the proposed wage lift of 8 cents an hour. New York Central officials said they would be hit to the extent of $17,000,000 this year and for all the roads the added wage bill was calculated as reducing gross revenues by about $204,000,000, but with a considerable offset in tax savings.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite advanced .5 of a point to 51.5, the highest mark registered in more than three years.

Transactions increased to 1,321,870 shares after a week averaging well under a million daily. Yesterday's business amounted to 889,260 shares.

Stocks up a point or more at the end included Santa Fe, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Case, Oliver Farm, Johns-Manville, Air Reduction, Westinghouse, Union Carbide and Coca Cola. Fractionally improved were U. S. Steel, Goodyear, United Aircraft, Douglas, General Electric, Texas Co., Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Union Pacific. Du Pont jumped 3¼, Eastman Kodak 2½ and U. S. Gypsum 2.

Curb market gainers included Aluminum, Ltd., Cities Service, St. Regis Paper and Venezuela Petroleum. Transfers here were 310,555 shares against 255,045 yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—An upturn of about a cent in rye to new highs for the past six years today as the aggressive demand for that grain which got underway last Saturday continued unabated. Profit-taking on the upturn was heavy but could not stem the rise and final prices were not far below the day's highs.

At the close rye was up 3-4 to 1 cent, July 93 7-8 to 94. The day's highs were about 7 cents above last Friday's lows and the December contract at one time was within 3-4 cent of the $1.00 mark. Wheat finished unchanged to 1-8 higher, July $1.44 5-8 to $1.44½; corn was unchanged, July $1.05, and oats were 1-8 to 7-8 up, July reaching a new seasonal peak.

21 BOY SCOUTS GIVEN AWARDS

Delor Weber Becomes Life Scout; Camp Discussed

Twenty-one Manistique Scouts were honored Tuesday evening at a Boy Scout camp rally and Court of Honor held in the Legion Cottage. Awards were made to the boys by Lauritz Drevdahl, chairman of the Court of Honor and board of review, and Judge W. G. Stephens, former chairman of the Manistique district Scout organization.

Outstanding award presented during the evening was made to Delor Weber, Troop 60, who received the life Scout award. Other awards given at the meeting were:

Troop 60

Troop 61

First class, Van Mueller; merit badges, David Watson, pathfinding, personal health, reading; Charles Lundstrom, safety.

Troop 62

Tenderfoot, Hal Bundy, Larry Currans, George Hruska, Donald Fugere

During the presentation of the awards, Judge Stephens emphasized that it wasn't actual cash value that made the awards worthwhile, but rather their scarcity and what they stand for. He told the boys that they stand on the threshold of life and urged them to depend on their own efforts to do the things and get the things they wanted rather than expecting something for nothing.

Certificates of participation in the Midwest First Aid meet were awarded to three patrols from the Manistique district who competed in the event held here.

Showing of movies taken at the Boy Scout's camp Red Buck at Red Jack Lake and discussion of camp was the concluding feature on the program. Stanley Huntington, Red Buck Scout Executive, told the group a little about the program and Scouts present who plan to attend the camp were asked to fill out blanks giving that information. Mr. Huntington also expressed his regrets on leaving this area but said that he hoped to be able to return and visit here again.

William J. Cook, president of the Red Buck council, also spoke on the program. Mauritz Carlson, Scout Commissioner, opened the session.

BRUNETTE PAYS FOR WALLEYES

Pleads Guilty To Having 34 Speared Fish In His Possession

Violation of provisions of the game laws regarding the taking of walleyed pike cost Wally Brunette of Gladstone $70 yesterday when he appeared before Justice of Peace Alger W. Strom and entered a plea of guilty. He had previously pleaded innocent of the offense.

Cases against Roy Burroughs, Watson Upton and Ben McGilvray who were with Brunette at his camp the night the arrests were made and who were also charged with violations were quashed upon the motion of Prosecuting Attorney Clyde McGonagle.

Brunette pleaded guilty to the specific charge of having in his possession illegally speared walleyed pike taken from the Whitefish River. Two other charges had originally been placed against him.

The four men were arrested on April 30 at Brunette's camp on the Whitefish River about 12 miles north of Rapid River by Conservation Officers Allen Tweedy and Oren Lagerquist of Rapid River and Martin Cameron of Gladstone.

Thirty - four walleyed pike weighing about 150 pounds, a fish spear, sack and other items were found near the camp.

Brunette was represented by William Miller, Rapid River, Delta county probate judge.

Social

Bridge Party

Mrs. Richard Hadrich was the guest of honor at a bridge party given by her sister, Mrs. J. P. Carlson, at the Carlson camp on Tuesday afternoon.

Two tables were formed by the group. Mrs. Louis Smith was recipient of high score, and Mrs. Peter Cannon was second. The honor prize was given to Mrs. L. J. Weingartner, and Mrs. Sherman Sword received the consolation prize.

A delicious dinner was served at 6 o'clock.

G. E. Dehlin left yesterday morning for Ann Arbor where he will attend commencement exercises at which his daughter, Alice, will be graduated from the University of Michigan. He will also visit with his sons, James and Charles, before returning.

I'd Rather Be Right

By Samuel Grafton

The fascists generally like to say that they came into being only to fight the Comintern. Well, now there is no Commintern any more. Will the fascists now pass a resolution quietly abolishing themselves?

Grafton

Will the German, Italian and Japanese signers of the anti-Commintern pact now meet and declare (in the language of the Praesidium of the Executive Committee of the Comintern) that their form of organization has outlived its usefulness?

Or will they continue their organization, in support of a cause that has vanished, like those ancient societies for the relief of indigent falconers, which persist long after the occasion for their founding?

They Need a New Reason

The fascists now need a new reason for staying in business. They used to knock the teeth out of their own people, and bang their heads because, forsooth, they were fighting the Comintern, an enterprise in which they held it to be legitimate to kill their own.

But why are they knocking teeth out still? By abolishing itself, the Comintern has really said, with considerable clarity, that when the fascists fight their own people, they do so because they are afraid of their own people, and for no other reason.

I believe that with the abolition of the Communist International a wholly new stage has been reached, both in the war and in the history of the world.

Russia once needed the Comintern. Through it, she maintained contact with the countries which would not grant her diplomatic recognition. Kept out at the front door, she came in at the back. Now, she talks directly with Foreign Minister Anthony Eden himself, she does not need the older methods. She has a twenty-year treaty of alliance with Britain. It is much better, from her point of view, to have such a treaty supported by wholly British parties, than by a party connected with an international organization whose headquarters are in Moscow.

So, one of the meanings of the abolition of the Comintern is that Russia has come of age in international affairs. As her formal diplomatic relations with other countries have developed, the informal and extra-legal devices have become an embarrassment, and have necessarily been shoved more and more into the background.

But there is still another meaning in the rich complex of meanings which envelop this act.

Russia believes this war to be a war purely for national liberation. Actually, her position has been close to those of most American and British conservatives, who say that this is entirely a war of self-defense, and not a war for social progress. Russia has never obtruded any suggestion of social change or development into the picture. Her chief 'slogan," as offered to the people of Europe, has been "national liberation." Russia, and Communists generally, have not gone in for the language of American and British liberals, who have hoped for that extra quart of milk and a little more democracy as direct outcomes of the struggle. Russia has never talked the Wallace war-aims language. To her, this has been a war to beat the living daylights out of the fascists, for good and sufficient national reasons.

A World Grows Older

By abolishing the Comintern, Russia says, in effect, that she now relies on those national reasons for fighting Hitler. She thinks each country has such reasons for fighting Hitler, in good measure: reasons broad enough and national enough to allow the union of all classes in the struggle. In such a setting, the Comintern is superfluous, and so Russia has wiped it out, for what might be called reasons of ideological economy.

So, in a sense, the whole world has grown up, and the self-abolition of the Comintern is an announcement to that effect. Most disappointed, in the end, will be those who believed, in a neurotic kind of way, that the Comintern was the only thing that ailed us. It was only a sympton of what ailed us. Hunger is still hunger, discontent is still discontent; Hitler must still be beaten; and the removal of the Comintern is Russia's way of saying these things, and also of preventing those who don't want to face these things from finding an adventitious excuse for obscuring them. That is why I have so strong a feeling that this latest development marks a new stage in the parade to wherever we are going.

Memorial Day Observance Planned By Local Businesses

Business in general will be at a standstill in Gladstone Monday in observance of Memorial Day.

While Memorial Day falls on Sunday and the Legion memorial service is to be held Sunday afternoon, retail establishments of the city will close the following day as has been the custom for many years when a holiday falls on Sunday.

Banks of the city, the First National and State Savings, will observe Monday as a legal holiday and will not be open for business during the day. The city hall offices will do likewise.

August Mattson Post, American Legion, is sponsoring commemorative services at the Legion plot in Fernwood cemetery, Sunday afternoon.

John Jetty, student pastor at the First Lutheran church, will deliver the memorial address.

Arrangements for the service have about been completed, it was announced yesterday by George Peoples, program chairman.

MINERS FILE PROTEST

Iron Mountain — Some 37 underground workers at the West Vulcan mine of the Penn Group at Vulcan returned home after reporting for work on the first shift today, and from 90 to 100 men have been out on the three shifts each day since Thursday, May 20, as the result of a disagreement over the length of the lunch period at the property.

Cornelius Alessandrini, president of the mine union, said this noon that the men had been "locked out" by the company after claiming that the operators were not properly interpreting the union contract as to the lunch period.

The workers claim, among other things, that the contract provides a fixed 20-minute lunch period, and the company has insisted on 30 minutes, requiring the men to stay underground longer at the end of each shift. Also, Alessandrini said, the men want to eat their lunch on surface, whereby they are now required to eat underground. Other factors also enter into the disagreement, Alessandrini stated.

Tenth All-Star Game At Evanston, Aug. 25

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, May 26. (AP)—The tenth all-star football game, which annually opens the nation's gridiron season, will be played by the Washington Redskins, champions of the National league, and a squad of selected college headliners at Dyche Stadium, in suburban Evanston, on the night of August 25.

Dyche Stadium, with a standing room capacity of 50,000, is the home football field of Northwestern university.

Profits of the game will be donated to the Chicago Service Men's Center, which weekly feeds and entertains 125,000 servicemen.

The site of the contest, it was announced tonight, was changed from Soldier Field, where last fall 101,000 spectators saw the Chicago Bears defeat the all-stars, 21 to 0, to Dyche Stadium to restrict attendance, as far as possible, to fans in the Chicago area, in keeping with the wishes of the office of defense transportation.

The net profits of last year's contest, which amounted to $153,945.92, were contributed to army emergency relief and navy relief. No other single sports event raised as much for war charity.

Although many of last year's collegiate stars are now in the service of their country, the all-star squad is expected to compare well with its predecessors. The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the game, is asking no blanket release of players in the service. However, several outstanding players in 1942 college football already have received permission from their commanding officers to participate.

For the first time there will be no "fan poll" to determine this year's starting line-up for the collegians. Also, for the first time the squad will include undergraduate players. The coaching staff is to be appointed.

The Redskins, headed by Sammy Baugh, will train at San Diego, Calif. The all-stars will assemble at Northwestern university, August 7, for three weeks of practice.

WEATHER AGAIN DETROIT'S JINX

Yanks And Tigers Will Try It Today; Twin Bills Pile Up

New York, May 26. (AP)—For the fifth successive time, the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees were prevented today by weather from meeting in their initial 1943 game.

The two clubs will try again tomorrow, with southpaw Hal Newhouser seeking his second victory while opposing Atley Donald on the mound. If they are balked again, the clubs might as well plan to play a full slate of double headers both here and at Detroit.

The rivals were rained out four days at Detroit last week, piling up twin bills for July and August.

En route to New York, the Tigers dropped off rookie outfielder Victor Wertz at Buffalo where he will play in the International league until his draft board calls him up. He is just 18 years old and 1-A.

The Tiger squad remains at 22 players, however. Johnny McHale, former Notre Dame football center and one-time sandlotter, has joined Manager Steve O'Neill's club for utility duty until he is called up by the navy. McHale is a first baseman and outfielder. He played two seasons ago at Muskegon.

Knuckle Ball Ace Blanks Browns, 1-0, Before 13,500 Fans

Washington, May 26, (AP)—Dutch Leonard, veteran knuckle baller, blanked St. Louis with four hits as Washington defeated the Browns 1 to 0 before 13,500 fans tonight.

Leonard bested another knuckle ball artist, Johnny Niggeling to score his fourth win of the season against two losses.

The lone run of the game came in the sixth when Jake Early singled went to second on Leonard's one baser and scored on Stan Spence's long single to center. The Senators got only four blows off Niggeling and added a fifth off George Caster, who worked the eighth and ninth for the Browns.

WRIGLEY FIELD SHOW IS FIZZLE

Chicago Winning Streak Ended By Giants; Gate Only 4,638

BY DAVE HOFF

Chicago, May 26 (AP)—The dramatic return of Lou Novikoff to the Chicago Cubs' lineup after a 61day holdout was a fizzle today as the mad Russian went hitless in four trips to the plate, and the Cubs saw their two-game winning streak ended 4 to 2 by the New York Giants, and only 4,638 fans entered Wrigley Field to hail their hero.

Novikoff, plummeted immediately into the lineup by Manager Jimmy Wilson without benefit of spring conditioning other than a few semi-pro appearances on the west coast, was the only one of the Cub regulars who didn't get a safety off Bill Lohrman, the Giants' hurler. But Lohrman, now possessor of four victories and only two defeats for the second division New Yorkers, kept the Chicagoans' hits effectively scattered.

Paul Derringer took his fourth defeat in five games as the Giants hopped on the ex-Cincinnati pitcher for all their runs in the first three innings. The Cubs had numerous opportunities thereafter to catch up but Lorhman was able to avoid serious trouble each time.

Novikoff's part in the day's batting efforts consisted of a ground-out to second base in the second inning with no one on base; a pop fly to short in the fourth with a teammate on second and one out; a pop fly to deep center in the sixth with two out and men on first and third; and a fly to deep right in the eighth wth two out and a man on second.

Bucky And Reds Take Phils, 1-0

Cincinnati, May 26, (AP)—Eddie Miller singled Bucky Walters home after two were out in the ninth tonight to give Bucky and the Cincinnati Reds a 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Young Charley Fuchs had held the Reds to four hits and was within an out of finishing the ninth clean when Walters hit to Dannie Murtaugh at second. Murtaugh knocked it down but Bucky got to first with a single.

Then, as Fuchs worked on Lonnie Frey, Walter broke for second. Fuchs whirled and threw to the base and Bucky was tagged but Umpire John Barlick called it a balk and Bucky stayed on second.

Frey then was given an intentional pass and Miller caught a two-two pitch for a sharp hit to left field. Walters scored handily to end the game.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

TRACK FINALE—The last of the interscholastic track and field meets will be held at the Soo Saturday when the Blue Devils and the Newberry Indians meet in dual competition. The meet will be the fourth this season for the Indians, who won the team championship at the U. P. Relays here last Saturday and probably gives them whatever honor is attached to having the longest track schedule of three meets or less this season. As a dual meet, the event may be one of the highlights of the current season.

PERPLEXING—The Chicago Cubs have been getting generally good pitching. In hitting, the club is in third place in the National League and the players have made fewer errors than the leading Brooklyn Dodgers. The Cubs are among the leaders in double plays. Yet as they begin a long home stand, the hapless Bruins are anchored at the bottom of the league standings with small chance of getting out during their current series with the Giants. Everyone realizes that the Cubs are far from being the worst team in the circuit despite the fact that they have been shut out seven times and lost 19 games while winning only nine.

PICKS 'EM TOUGH — Coach Leo Brunelle has announced the football schedule for his Stephenson Eagles for next fall and it's a killer-diller. The small Class C school will tackle such Class B bigwigs as Oconto, Marinette and Menominee as well as Norway, a Class C school that just misses Class B enrollment and knocks off its Class B opponents consistently. Other games are scheduled with St. Joseph of Escanaba, Niagara, Peshtigo and Crystal Falls. The ever optimistic Brunelle thinks prospects are "fairly bright." Five home games are included in the schedule.

STATISTICS—The state conservation department has checked over the age groups of hunters who sent in report cards after the season last fall with the aim of determining what effect the draft may have upon license revenues next fall. They found that more than 40 percent of the hunters are outside the military draft age brackets, which is the optimistic way of stating it. The realistic way is to state that nearly 60 percent are within the draft age and a great many of them may not be available for deer hunting in 1943. The age composition of the 1942 hunting army follows: 12-15 years old, 1.7 percent; 16-20, 8.8 percent; 21-25, 7 percent; 26-30, 11.5 percent; 3-35, 15 percent; 36-40, 14.6 percent; 41-45, 12 percent; 46-50, 10.5 percent; 51-60, 12.8 percent; 61-70, 5.8 percent; over 70, 1.3 percent.

HIT AND MISS—Lefty Gomez, once one of the game's greatest southpaw pitchers, is just about at the end of the road . . . Released last year by the Yankees, he was signed by the Boston Braves . . . who cast him adrift last week . . . The Senators grabbed him . . . Don Cameron, trainer of Count Fleet, was offered the colt for nothing when the current racing sensation was just a youngster . . . Cameron turned the offer down, thinking the horse wasn't worth the feed bill . . . and still some people think they can beat the races.

HIGGINS TOPS A. L. SWATTERS

Tiger Infielder Boasts .358 Average This Season

Chicago, May 26 (AP) — Pinky Higgins has been patrolling third base in the majors for 11 seasons, but there was a time this spring when the obard of strategy of the Detroit Tigers seriously considered sending him to the outfield.

The move was thought up as a means of making more pleasant the baseball life of Mr. Higgins, who habitually complained of sore feet come summer months.

"Maybe the soft turf in the garden will keep his dogs from growlin'," guessed Manager Steve O'Neill. "Those big feet of Hank Greenberg were helped when he was transferred from the clay around first base to the grass in the outfield."

But "Pinky" had a hankering to stay at the hot corner—hot feet or not—and today he and Vern Stephens, the St. Louis Browns shortstop, were the only infielders among the ten leading hitters in the American league. The rest were outfielders.

Hitting .358 Clip

Higgins, who had a .295 lifetime major league batting average before the season began, despite the fact that he had not hit .300 since the Tigers got him from the Philadelphia A's five years ago, has become simply ferocious at the plate.

He collected seven blows in his last 15 trips to boost his year's average to .358.

Stephens, who sprained his left kneecap May 16 and has been unable to play since, still held the lead with a .368 on the basis of having been at bat 60 or more times.

Tied for third and fourth behind Higgins in the averages computed through Sunday's games were Detroit's $52,000 rookie, Dick Wakefield, and the New York Yankees' transplanted pitcher, Johnny Lindell. Both had notched .319. They were followed by Oris Hockett of Cleveland with .317, Wally Moses of the Chicago White Sox with .308; veteran Jo Jo White of Philadelphia with .307; Mike Chartak of St. Louis with .300. Jeff Heath of Cleveland with .297 and Ray Radcliff of Detroit with .290.

Slugging Charley Keller of the Yankees claimed two important batting honors, leading in triples with 3 and home runs with 5.

Jim Bloodworth of Detroit, and Washington's Ellis Clary had punched nine doubles apiece; and Bloodworth also was tied with two other Senators, Stan Spence and Bob Johnson, with 18 runs batted in. Jo Jo White had the most hits, 35, and George Case of Washington had filched the most bases, 5.

The Senators also boasted the leading pitcher, Alex Carrasquel, who had won four with no losses. Detroit's speedballer, Virgil (Fire) Trucks, was tops in strikeouts with 28.

LOOP LEADERS TAKE PASTING

Brooklyn Club Awakens To Dangers Lurking On Western Trip

Pittsburgh, May 26. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates plastered a 17 to 4 defeat on the Brooklyn Dodgers today to rudely awaken the National league leaders to the dangers they face on their first western tour of the season.

There never was anything resembling a contest to the affair. The Pirates scored a run in the first off Max Macon, knocked him out with a five-run explosion in the second stanza and then turned the game into a farce in the third with nine runs off Les Webber after two were out.

In their two big innings the Pirates sent 26 batters to the plate, 15 of them in the third when Webber gave six hits and six walks.

Vince DiMaggio hit a homer with one on in the second inning and another with two aboard in the third to lead Pittsburgh's attack, which totalled 16 hits.

Brooklyn _ 002 000 110— 4 12 2
Pittsburgh_ 159 000 02x—17 16 0

Macon, Webber (2), Fitzsimmons (4) and Owen; Hebert and Lopez.

Cards Clipped, 4-3, By Boston Braves

St. Louis, May 26. (AP) — Mort Cooper picked the wrong man to pitch to in the 11th inning tonight, and the Boston Braves clipped the Cardinals, 4 to 3, on Charley Workman's single. Al Javery held the Cards to six hits.

Cooper gave up a hit to Eddie Joost to open the Braves' half of the 11th, and with two men down and Joost on third, elected to walk Johnny McCarthy to get at Workman.

Lou Klein and Walker Cooper both clouted home runs for the Cards; the former in the first, the latter in the sixth tying the score after the Braves had taken the lead with a three-run outburst in the fifth.

That fifth inning was really the payoff, for Walker Cooper's error on Stan Musial's throw allowed the third run to reach second, all set for a scoring single by Joost. Two singles and a double counted for the first two.

Score by innings:

Boston ____ 000 030 001—4 10 1
St. Louis __ 100 101 00x—3 6 1

Javery and Poland; M. Cooper and W. Cooper.

ON WRECKED TRAIN

Sault Ste. Marie — Virginia Newhouse, who left last Wednesday to join the Ice Follies at Minneapolis, en route for Seattle, has telegraphed her father, John Newhouse that the train on which they were traveling was derailed, but that no one was injured. She said she would call from Seattle. A second telegram stated that she was unable to get a call through from Seattle, but would write later. The Follies were to have opened in Seattle Monday night.

Crisler Starts Building Football Machine Soon

BY WATSON SPOELSTRA

Detroit, May 26 (AP) — In the sticky heat of July, the University of Michigan will start assembling its 1943 football machine, Athletic Director H. O. (Fritz) Crisler disclosed today, with the opening of drills falling on July 12 or 19.

At a season when normally a footbal coach is planning a summer fishing trip or lakeside vacation with his family, Crisler and the Michigan publicity chief, Fred DeLano, were in Detroit today for a sort of gridiron hot stove league session.

From the wide variety of topics under discussion, the following was ascertained;

1—Michigan means business about going through with its football schedule, probably the most attractive card ever drafted. There isn't a chance that the Ohio State, Minnesota or Notre Dame games will be shifted to Briggs Stadium as Michigan plans to play them all at Ann Arbor.

2—There will be an estimated 3,500 boys in school for the summer term. This includes 1,200 civilians, largely medical and engineering students with draft deferments, plus 1,300 navy trainees who may compete in varsity sports and some 1,000 army men who may not.

3—Crisler and his staff will go to work in midsummer for a month searching out football talent. Then there will be a short lapse before the start of fall drills probably the last week in August. The opener is Sept. 18 at Camp Grant, Ill.

Crisler not only believes there will be Western Conference football; he is of the firm opinion that "four or five teams will match 1942 Big Ten standards."

Because of the shifting war picture, Crisler doesn't care to identify these four or five schools, but it is plain that Michigan is high on this list. Aside from the navy trainees arriving on the campus next month, from which the Wolverines may be able to pluck many a prospect, Michigan has a dozen or more holdover athletes with a reasonably good chance of continuing their training at Ann Arbor.

That goes for such notables as Bob Wiese, Merv Pregulman, Jim Brieske, Julius Franks, Ralph Amstutz and Bob Stenberg. Then there are newcomers Clem Bauman, winner of the Chicago alumni trophy linemen Bill Renner and George Kraeger, and backs Dick Walterhouse, George Kiesel, Ralph Chubb and Bill Culligan.

Furthermore, Capt. Paul White, a marine reserve, may be assigned to the navy training program right on his own campus.

For one inclined to be extremely reluctant to appear optimistic, Crisler was really enthused, particularly for a May afternoon.

GAMES TODAY

New York, May 26 (AP)—Probable pitchers in the major leagues tomorrow (won and lost records in parentheses):

National League

Brooklyn at Pittsburgh (night): Melton (2-1) vs. Sewell (4-1).
New York at Chicago: Wittig (2-3) vs. Warneke (0-2).
Boston at St. Louis: Andrews (4-2) vs. Lanier (1-2).
Philadelphia at Cincinnati: Gerhauser (2-2) vs. Riddle (2-3).

American League

Cleveland at Boston (morning and afternoon): Smith (3-0) and Bagby (5-1) vs. Judd (3-1) and Hughson (2-2).
Detroit at New York: Newhouser (1-1) vs. Donald (0-1).
Chicago at Philadelphia (night): Lee (0-1) vs. Arntzen (1-1).
St. Louis at Washington (night): Muncrief (1-1) or Hollingsworth (1-4).

Hermansville

Hermansville, Mich—Matt Kure left for Iron Mountain where he will visit for a few days.

John and Phillip Minerick left Tuesday morning for Delavan, Wis., where they will make their summer home. The boys' parents and family moved to Delavan in mid-winter and the boys remained on the farm till now. John was a Junior in high school and Phillip Minerick was a sophomore. Both boys were active in school affairs and John was a track and basketball star.

The May edition of the "Scoop" Senior class edition of the Hermansville high school paper will be out the latter part of the week, it has been announced.

Slucter Promoted

Glenn E. Slucter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Slucter of Hermansville was promoted recently to First Lieutenant by the Caribbean Defense Command, where he has been serving.

SHEMKY CASE CLEARED

Iron River—Having certified to the county War Ration and Price board in Crystal Falls that John Shemky, conservation officer, was on an emergency forest fire call when checked for excessive speed by a field man of the OPA, Claude Smith, district supervisor for the conservation department, said future cases affecting the department will be brought directly to him before further complaint is made.

COMING

"DESERT VICTORY"

Col. MacDonald, who roamed the front, instructed his men not to use their pistols until they were close enough to shoot the enemy—and then to shoot with their cameras. The result is terrific.

Softening Of Italy May Save Thousands Of Lives

BY GLENN BABB

The minds of the Italian people have become one of the critical battlefields of the war. For possession, the allies and the axis are fighting an engagement which is likely to have much to do with the war's course and duration. It may determine whether the United Nations will have to invade Italy or will receive her submission as one of the windfalls Prime Minister Churchill said the other day would be much appreciated.

GLENN BABB

Nowhere has there been a more vivid illustration of the fact that this is a war in which ideas can be as important as more lethal weapons. It is possible that thousands of American, British and French lives will be saved by the psychological bombardment the allies are combining so efficiently with the aerial bombardment of Italian ports and cities.

The frantic efforts of the Rome-Berlin propaganda machine to set up a defense against the allied barrage of ideas seems a fair index of its effectiveness. During the last few days the axis has fed its peoples with some of the most fantastic tales of the war. The mainstay, of course, is the legend of the impregnability of axis defenses, which has taken the place of the former myth of the invincibility of German and Italian forces on the offensive.

Rome Radio Boasts

For example the Rome radio yesterday was describing the strength of Italy's bulwarks on sea and on land, blandly ignoring the fact, so well known to millions of Italians, that her air defenses are helpless to prevent the destruction of her ports, airfields and war plants. In default of such air protection the broadcast offered a tale about the sowing of 100,000 mines on the sea approaches to Italy and another likening Italian coastal defenses to Germany's vaunted Atlantic wall.

Other frequently broadcast stories tell of new secret weapons developed by the Germans, a superbomb of liquid air which supposedly is causing consternation in Britain, a new luftwaffe plane so heavily armed that the RAF is helpless against it. Yesterday's Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, tried to wring some comfort out of these tales. Since Churchill has assumed responsibility for "war without pity," Il Popolo said in a reference to the punishment being dealt daily to the cities of Germany and Italy, Germany now is released from all considerations of humanity and can use its new mystery weapons without restraint. This is supposed to strengthen the morale of countless Italians to whom American and British air power is no secret or mystery.

Mussolini Hard Up

Rome's account of an Italian bomber attack on Port Sudan and Gura far down the Red Sea coast, presumably from Crete and involving a round trip of some 3,000 miles, is one of the most remarkable contributions to the psychological war. It may be true, which makes it no less remarkable, for in that case it shows how hard up Mussolini must be for something to raise the flagging spirits of his people. Such an attack, even if successful, could have not the slightest military effect; it would be difficult to conceive of a less important target. The purpose appears to have been to encourage some Italians and Germans to forget for a while the terrible punishment their cities are receiving and dream of retaliation against the wicked British and perhaps even of raids on New York.

It is difficult to see from this angle how such propaganda, unless bolstered by force and threats can prevail for long against psychological weapons such as Churchill's latest warning to the Italian people that it would be wise to be rid of their leaders and get out of the war while the getting is good.

Ludington Park Play Hours Set

Ludington Park playground will be open for after school until dark under voluntary leadership beginning today, the city recreation department announced last night.

Only four boys showed up for a meeting scheduled at the park last night but all agreed to keep the equipment building open for public use of balls, bats shuffleboard equipment, croquet, etc. for the remainder of the week. They believe that by the end of the week, enough volunteers will be available to continue the program until the summer playground director takes over.

Tom McDermott and Tom Beaton will be in charge tonight. Friday Tom McCrory and Dave Johnston will be on duty.

Business To Halt All Next Monday

Escanaba stores, city hall, the courthouse and most other offices and business establishments will be closed all day Monday, the day following Memorial Day. Holiday observances will be held on Sunday under American Legion sponsorship at Ludington Park, starting at 1:30 in the afternoon. Following the observance there, other services will be held at Lakeview cemetery.

Every report that resistance shall cease is false. We will fight for our country and all that is most valuable to us. Concerning this we are all united.
—Premier Per Albin Hansson of Sweden.

ILLNESS TAKES CAROL RICHTER

10-Year-Old Daughter Of Carl W. Richters Is Polio Victim

Carol Mae Richter, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Richter of 122 South 18th street, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in her home, the victim of infantile paralysis.

Stricken on August 28, 1940, Carol Mae had dramatically and courageously fought the disease that caused her death.

Shortly after she was stricken she was rushed to Green Bay where she lived for five weeks in a respirator. Then she was removed to the Children's Clinic at Marquette, and after treatment there until May 10, 1942, was returned to her home here.

Since last September she had attended school at the orthopedic class in the Junior high school.

She was born on January 12, 1933, in Escanaba. Survivors are her parents and one sister, Mrs. Norman Anderson of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Fisherman Lands 5½ Lb. Bullhead

Walter Hubert, 1505 Washington avenue, landed a five and one half pound bullhead while fishing at Masonville Tuesday evening. The bullhead is one of the largest on record caught in the Escanaba area. The fish was 26½ inches long.

Hubert was fishing for walleyed pike and had caught two walleyes before the big bullhead hit the June bug spinner and worm. Hubert had considerable difficulty landing the bullhead.
